Cab Owners' Lament: Problems Top Income in Taxi Business Here

Ever try to get a taxi at 3 a.m.?

Each April, taxi and livery licenses come due in the Borough and owners, drivers and Councilmen sit down and talk. Licenses are almost always renewed and the talk is more a tradition than anything, but always there are complaints.

Councilmen get calls from irate constituents — the elderly woman who can't get a cab to go to the doctor, the fuming customer whose cab was half an hour late, the commuter who's the last one off the train — and no more cabs.

Even the police protest. When a young woman can't get a cab after she gets off a 3 a.m. bus, she appeals to the police and they reluctantly take her home in a patrol car.

Cab-owners have their own complaints. Low rates, as a start. You can go anywhere in the Borough for a dollar. (But if a cab take you across the Borough line, any fare can be charged.) After 6 at night, the charge is $1.50. Would you get up at 3 a.m. for only a buck and a half?

Many cab drivers do. And Thomas Moore, president of the Princeton Taxi Owners' Association, says that often there's nobody there when a cab answers that 3 a.m. call. Somebody's been to a party needs a cab and calls for one, but gets a ride and leaves the cab out in the cold.

"If you're known, and you call from your home base, you won't have trouble getting a cab," Mr Moore says.

If an owner or driver doesn't answer a call, the Borough can't take away his license: licensing does not mean an obligation to serve. There are no license requirements, except lack of a criminal record and ability to drive.

Yet the Borough provides two free taxi stands — one on the Nassau Hall side of Nassau Street, one on Palmer Square, and by holding down the number of taxis to 28, protects owners from competition. Or, in Mr. Moore's words, "It's the city's responsibility to protect the industry as well as the consumer."

Owners pay $50 a year for each taxi they own, plus $2.50 for their own licenses. Drivers pay $10.

"Liveries" — there are ten in the Borough — pay $25 per car. They can work only from telephone orders and may not operate on the streets. Taxis can do either.

Fares, written into the Borough's ordinance, haven't been changed for about two decades. Mr. Moore's Association has been talking about petitioning Council for a rate change.

Many members would like a service charge added to the telephone call because the cab-driver must process the call, drive to the location, pick up the customer and drive to the destination. Takes longer than answering a "Hey, taxi!" Advance calls, in Mr. Moore's view, also deserve a service charge.

Borough Councilman Robert Powell has some ideas that grew from the annual spring meeting with owners and drivers. Why, he

Toddlers vs. Outfielders in Nursery School Case

The fate of the Princeton Nursery School is one of those many issues, remarked Township Mayor Jay Bleiman gloomily Monday night, in which neither the good nor the bad is all on one side.

Committee decided unanimously, after a long hearing, to table the question for study. There was no indication when a decision would be reached (See sketch on page 3)

The Princeton Nursery School, a non-profit corporation with United Fund and Federal support, wants to lease a patch of Township owned land now used as part of a ballfield by the recreation department. The school's building on Leigh Avenue is old and over-crowded and the school's trustees want a new and larger structure.

One question, raised repeatedly Monday night, is that of precedent: if one worthy, non-profit organization is allowed to lease municipal land, why not others?

Another question raised is that of commitment to the school: both Borough and Township governing bodies had discussed with school trustees the possibility of, first, using the Borough Hall gym for a school and later, negotiating a trade in which the recreation commission would get the gym and the school would get the piece of playing-field. That fell through when the cost of remodeling the gym proved prohibitive, and neighbors protested use of the building for recreation.

This leads to a third problem: if Committee grants the lease, what does the recreation department get in return? A commitment was made to recreation officials also, they point out.

Blacks' Opinion Split. To complicate an already intricate problem, many black residents of Birch Avenue and Race Street, who would be neighbors of the new school, protest its construction and spoke vehemently in opposition on Monday night. But the John-Witherspoon Civil Association, a predominantly black organization, supports the new school.

Many black residents of Princeton attended the school as children, and have children and even grandchilren, there now. Some of these alumni spoke eloquently in supprt of the new building at Monday night's hearing.

Also, the State Department of Environmental Protection must approve any decision to grant the lease because of a prohibition against using recreation lands for other uses. However, Henry Broad, attorney for the school, told Committee that "community" use, rather than only "recreational" use, was in the minds of the original Community Gardens' trustees. The late Albridge C. Smith III, who was fatally stricken three weeks ago when making the initial nursery school presentation before Committee, was a trustee of the Community Gardens land, and in 1969, offered a piece of that land to the nursery school. The school turned it down, Mr. Broad said.

This Is Princeton

He added that Community Gardens trustees had also considered offering part of the land as a public library site. About 14 acres of the original Community Gardens was snipped out for Community Park School and its playing area he reminded Committee.

Alternate Site Ruled Out. Valley Road School might be a fine place for the nursery school, several speakers suggested. Mrs. William Sword, for the nursery school, explained that the school board had said "no," for legal reasons.

Gerald Breese, who sits on the Regional Planning Board, but who spoke as a private citizen, expressed concern about "nibbling away" at open space, and he reminded Committee of the fate of New York City's Central Park. Dr Breese said he wa n't really talking against nursery schools and little children, but he asked whether a school was really more in the "public interest" than recreation.

"The precedent here scares the daylights out of me," he commented.

He and other speakers, urged the nursery school to try again for space in Valley Road School. Mayor Bleiman then said, rather uneasily, that the Township itself hoped to get some office space in the Valley Road building and had been told that the school system itself might have to use the structure once its Middle School population has moved to John Witherspoon School.

Former Township Mayor John D. Wallace spoke from the audience and reminded Committee that officials have encouraged the school to find other sites, including Valley Road. He conceded that precedent was a looming problem, and warned that the same problem would face the Regional School Board if it decided to lease Valley Road land to a non-profit corporation.

Apparently there isn't any other place for the nursery school to go, he concluded. "We ought to sort out our community priorities," he said. "There may even be need for more nursery school facilities."

Township attorney Gordon Griffin, questioned by Committeemen, said the law allows leasing of land to a non-profit corporation that serves a public purpose.

WOMAN FOUND DEAD

In Stony Brook. The discovery Sunday of a 33-year-old Pennington mother lying in 12 inches of water in Stony Brook has this small community buzzing and has left a lot of unanswered questions.

Mrs. Judith Baker of 132 King George Road was discovered by two fishermen at 5:50 p.m. She was pronounced dead at the scene by Mercer County Deputy Medical Examiner Dr. David Fluck, who estimated she had been dead about four hours.

State Police have described her death as "very suspicious." Monday, Mercer County Medical Examiner Dr John F. Marshall said that Mrs Baker probably did not drown. No signs of violence were found on the body, he reported.

An autopsy was completed Sunday night. Further pathological examinations of the victim's internal organs and blood will be performed by the state medical examiner's office in Newark. Dr Marshall also reported that x rays revealed no definite evidence of foul play.

Mrs. Baker was estranged in 1971 from her husband, Dr E. Wilson Baker, a dentist, who had an office on Carson Road, Princeton. It is believed he is presently living in Bordentown. The couple had two girls, 8 and 13.

On April 3, Dr Baker was indicted for possession of a pistol without a permit, a charge that stemmed from an arrest earlier this year by the Hopewell State Police. Police at the time, acting on a call from Mrs. Baker, who told them she had anticipated some problems because of their marital estrangement, allegedly found a 22 caliber pistol in Dr. Baker's car parked in front of his wife's home.

Sunday, Dr. Baker had taken his two daughters out for the day. When he returned to her home, his wife was not there. He told State Police that he had heard people in the area talking about the discovery of a woman's body in Stony Brook and asked whether the victim was his wife.

Stony Brook runs close by King George Road. Mrs. Baker was found near an embankment in the brook several hundred yards from her home. Police said that although there were many fishermen in the area at the time, apparently none had noticed anything unusual.

Bike Registration Set

The next registration of the Borough Police Department's on-going program to register bicycles and attach reflectorized tape to them will be held in the gym behind Borough Hall from 1 to 5 April 23 to 27 and from 9:30 to 1:30 on Saturday, April 28.

Anyone who wishes to have his bike stamped and registered by the police to guard against theft and have tape attached for safe riding at night is invited to come to the gym. There is no charge.

Easter Is Late—But Falls Short of Record

Easter in 1973 comes within three days of the latest possible date for commemorating the resurrection of Christ. It can occur as late as April 25, which it did just 30 years ago but will not again until 2038.

Only three times in this century has Easter come later than it does this year. It will fall again on April 22 in 1984 — presuming that George Orwell's premonition prove incorrect and the holy day is still observed.

The earliest date on which Easter can occur is March 22. Because of the variations of the moon, which sets the date, there has been no observance of Easter on March 22 since 1818, and there will be none again until the 22d century.

Easter Sundays in March are, actually, at a ratio of about 1 in 3. There was one in 1970 and just two more in the current decade (March 30, 1975, and March 26, 1978.) Next year, it will be April 14.

History tells us that the procedure for determining celebration of Easter was settled by the first Council of the Christian Churches at Nicaea, in Asia Minor, in 325. After lengthy debate, the council ruled that Easter should be observed on the first Sunday after the 14th day of the Paschal Moon — the first moon whose 14th day falls on or after March 21.

Taxi Problems

asks, have only 28 taxis? Why not open up the lists and let anybody have a license? Why not free-floating fares? Maybe $10 for a 3 a.m. trip? But fares to be posted in each individual cab.

"The public would benefit if more cabs entered the market," Mr. Powell thinks. "Businessmen in the cab business want regulation to avoid competition, but here's a case where the more involved government is, the worse off the public is."

Mr. Powell points out that, because many drivers and owners only moonlight as cab drivers, there may be no more than a dozen cabs on the street at any one time. Cab owner Carmen ("Irish") Fasanella told Borough Council last week that the number is closer to 15. But that's a long way from the 28 that are licensed.

Moonlighting in the cab business is a very agreeable sideline: you can drive your own car for five or six hours a day and claim the car as a deductible business expense. Many off-duty policemen, in both Borough and Township, moonlight in this way as "gypsies." But even licensed owners are frequently employed fulltime in other ways.

Numbers a Problem. "How could we require drivers to drive full-time?" asks Mr. Powell, "and would be it fair?"

Mr. Moore, and probably most owners in the Association agree with him, believes that too many drivers would mean "poverty for everyone."

In fact, there is a kind of tradition of part-time cab driving in Princeton. Licenses are closely held, handed down within families. Many wives work with their husbands.

Mr. Powell sees the cab people as "not a group of businessmen at all, but more like the volunteer fire companies, composed of old-time Princetonians."

As a kind of solution, Mr. Powell and Councilman Martin P. Lombardo have been talking about a Senior Citizens Transportation system which would involve the cabs.

Funded by both Borough and Township, this system would use cabs in one of two ways. Maybe the town could "buy" a driver, a different one for each eight-hour day, and use him and his car for the elderly. Or, the town might print Senior Citizen tickets, sell them for a small sum to elderly residents who would use them as "fare" for cab rides. Drivers would cash them in for, say, $1.50.

Added Opportunity. "I think cab drivers would be willing to work out something like this," Mr. Powell says. "It would give them business they wouldn't have otherwise."

Most cabs are in the Borough. The Township has a wholly different structure. There are only half-a-dozen taxis and liveries combined, and no fare scale. Neither is there a limit on the number of licenses.

"We could have glutted the market," muses Administrator Joseph R. Nini. "We used to get requests for licenses from people who couldn't get them in the Borough because the number is held down. But we don't do this matter of policy. A Borough taxi can come into the Township to pick up a fare, we just don't let him cruise."

Speaking of competition, the only non-competitive area seems to be the Borough's 1.9 square miles. Mr. Powell points out. The drive to Newark Airport brings out a great deal of competition ("this is a highly competitive business...," Mr. Moore concedes), and there is a wide variety of rates.

UNIVERSITY SUED

Over Sale of Equity Funding, Princeton University, over a period of four business days in late March, was the owner of 66,000 shares of the Equity Funding Co. of America, whose fraudulent creation of bogus insurance policies was shortly thereafter revealed to create what the New York Times declares "may yet become one of the biggest financial disasters in modern history."

On Wednesday, March 21, the University bought for its Endowment Fund 66,000 shares of the company's stock at a price of $19.25. Four business days later, on March 26, it sold them for $17.50, and the following day, as rumors of irregularities in company management spread, the New York Stock Exchange halted all trading in the stock.

Today, a lawsuit against the University as the seller of a block of 66,000 shares has raised the question of whether it will realize the proceeds of its sale, representing some $1.15 million. The litigation was instituted by Salomon Brothers, one of the largest members of the NYSE, which purchased the shares for its own account and those of several of its clients.

Settlement of the suit will hinge largely on whether it can be proved that anyone acting on behalf of the University in authorizing the sale had inside knowledge of Equity Funding's internal difficulties. SEC regulations stipulate that the owner of securities who is in possession of facts which may have a bearing on their value must first inform the buyer before the sale is consumated.

There have been many cases involving trades of Equity Funding during the final days before the scandal broke in which buyers have refused to pay sellers, alleging that the latter were privy to inside information. Salomon Brothers alone has named some 75 defendants, including such colleges as Amherst, Swarthmore and Sarah Lawrence, in addition to Princeton.

Purchase and sale of the University's shares of Equity were recommended by the firm of John W. Bristol and Co., adviser to the Investment Committee of the University's Board of Trustees. Its members include R. Manning Brown, Jr. '36, Harvey Mole '29 and Donald C. Platten '40.

BAR HOURS DEBATED

Final Decision Postponed. It's bad enough for bars to stay open until midnight, neighbors of one Township tavern told Committee Monday night, and allowing a 2 a.m. closing would be even worse.

Howard Schrayer, 58 Leigh Avenue, who lives near Cenerino's Lounge, said he'd called the police twice in the four years he's lived in the area because of noise and disturbance.

"After closing hours, there's loitering outside the tavern with loud talking, and traffic with screeching tires — and beer glasses thrown on my lawn," he said.

Committee was holding a public hearing on an ordinance to extend tavern closing hours until 2 a.m. week nights. Because of a legal slip-up, the ordinance had to be amended and Committee couldn't act Monday night. It will vote on the ordinance at the special meeting scheduled for next Monday. Committeeman William Sutphin voted "no" to make a 4-1 vote on the ordinance amendment.

Tavern owners have petitioned Committee for the longer hours, pointing out that surrounding communities allow a 1 a.m., 1:30 or 2 a.m. closing, thereby providing some competition to the locals.

Informal Poll. Barbara Smoyer, Committee member, said she'd talked with Birch Avenue residents about longer hours and found 15 in favor and seven opposed. But Mrs. Douglas Epps, who lives on Birch, expressed vehement opposition.

"It's bad enough as it is," she exclaimed. "People come and sit on your porch, and you're afraid to say anything — when they come from that tavern, they're good and drunk."

She also spoke of high-speed traffic on Birch — "at 50 miles an hour!"

In other business Monday night, Committee accepted a petition from about two dozen Township residents protesting the forthcoming gypsy moths spray program. Mrs. H. C. Sturhahn and Mrs. Rene Leon told Committee that "Sevin," the spray, was a poison which would kill birds, bees and beneficial insects.

Dr. Leland Merrill, an entomoligist who is a member of the Environmental Commission, explained that the spray would not be used continually but would give a knock-out blow. Parasites imported already into the Province Line area, he said, would then take over the control.

Other residents of the Township have been anxious to have the spraying program. The state expects to start spraying the first week in May, and residents of the area are to be notified shortly, said Administrator Joseph R. Nini. Committee did not hold executive session after Monday's long meeting, and no decision on spraying has yet been reached.

Joining Borough Council, Committee did its part to form a joint citizens committee to study cable television. The committee will have ten members, five each from Borough and Township. They have not yet been named.

BROWN MAY APPEAL

An File Civil Suit. Leonard G. Brown "probably" will appeal the guilty verdict of an East Brunswick magistrate who ruled Monday that Mr. Brown was guilty of creating a disturbance in a turnpike restaurant February 25 while under the influence of alcohol.

The Princeton Youth Center director was fined $50. He was fined another $50 on the assault charge against a Howard Johnson waiter to which he had pled guilty the first day of the five-day session of hearings.

Magistrate Frederick Schneider III decided that because of Mr. Browns' community work and his background, no jail sentence would be imposed. The magistrate could have handed down a maxium sentence of six months or maxium fines of

Verdict "Disappointing"

The guilty verdict against Princeton Youth Center Len Brown was "very disappointing," stated Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley at his press conference Tuesday. The mayor, who had attended the same dinner-dance as the Browns the night of the Howard Johnson restaurant incident leading to the Brown arrest, testified at the East Brunswick hearing that Mr. Brown was not intoxicated at the function.

Mayor Cawley said Tuesday that "like other Princetonians," he was deeply disturbed by the beating allegedly administered to Mr. Brown by State Police.

Judge Schneider dismissed for lack of evidence the charges brought against Mr. Brown by State Trooper John Grant, who said Mr. Brown caused a disturbance outside the Howard Johnson's when he refused to get into a police car. The magistrate also dismissed Mr. Brown's charge of assault against Trooper Grant. He had not proved assault "beyond a reasonable doubt," the magistrate said. In addition, he dismissed police charges against Daniel Lewittes, a witness picked up by police for interfering with Mr. Brown's arrest.

Finances a Factor. Joseph Stonaker, lawyer for Mr. Brown, said this week he would definitely bring civil suit in Federal Court but added he did not know when the suit might be filed. Whether an appeal from Judge Schneider's decision will be filed—the deadline is ten days from the day of decision—depends in part on finances. Mr. Stonaker said Transcript of five days of testimony would be about $2,000 as a start, he explained.

"I believe Len was not guilty," Mr Stonaker said. "It was basically a conviction based on the loud and offensive language." He cited a U.S. Supreme Court decision that the First Amendment guaranteed use of offensive language so long as "fighting words" were not used.

Testimony at the hearings showed that Mr. Brown repeatedly, in a loud voice, used a single four-letter word. During his ride in the patrol car, a State Trooper held a microphone over the back of the front seat, transmitting Mr. Brown's voice to the state police station where it was taped.

The tape, placed in evidence, recorded Mr. Brown's voice in a constant "profane chant." Judge Schneider said he did not believe the continuous, repeated words came from someone who was being beaten. Mr. Brown said he was shouting each time he was struck on the head: however, Trooper Grant denied that any trooper had used excessive force.

Pictures Show Bruises. Photographs taken by Mrs. Brown several hours after her husband's arrest show a swollen eye and face, but Trooper Grant said Mr. Brown wasn't in this condition when taken into the police station.

Mr. Lewittes, arrested with Mr. Brown, testified that Trooper Grant pointed his finger at him like a gun, and said "I'll shoot you in the..... head, nigger." Mr. Lewittes and Mr. Brown were in the same cell.

He also testified that Mr. Brown was injured, bleeding and still in handcuffs, and he told the court that another state trooper, Gregory Chierchia, said "If I could take him one-on-one, I could beat the....out of him."

Borough Councilman Joseph P. Moore testified to Mr. Brown's reputation in Princeton. The prosecuting attorney, G. Michael Brown, asked whether the Elizabeth Taylor Byrd Scholarship Fund dinner, which the Browns had attended before the turnpike incident, had been arranged by "you people."

Offended, Mr. Moore said, "What kind of remark is that —'you people'?" The attorney said he intended no racial offense, and after a brief, sharp exchange between the two, the attorney asked Magistrate Schneider to order Mr. Moore silent.

At the end of the last day of testimony, state attorneys produced a State Trooper who had given Mr Brown a traffic ticket in 1971 for tail gaiting. He testified that Mr. Brown was abusive, and charged state troopers with "stepping all over black people."

He conceded that he had neither filed charges nor reported the incident, and only prepared a report on it last month after he had been interviewed by a detective preparing the present case against Mr. Brown.

NEW OFFICE BUILDING?

Neighbors Oppose. The proposal to build a two-story office building on the corner of Harrison and Valley Roads—already the subject of neighborhood opposition—will star this Thursday at 8 p.m. on the agenda of the Township Zoning Board, one of the liveliest agendas the board has had in some months.

Arnold J. Hirsch and Robert S. Albahary want to build a pair of office structures, joined by a plaza and served by underground parking. The 2.266-acre plot fronts on Ewing, as well as on Harrison and Valley, but the Township's site-plan review board has already told the developers that exit-entrance on Ewing is to be eliminated.

The land is in a residential zone. The builders need either a re-zoning of the area, or a recommendation from the Zoning Board to Township Committee permitting construction of the office buildings. Variances for parking and building setback are also required.

Petitions opposing the building are being circulated in the streets around the site.

College Seeks Parking. In other matters on Thursday, the Zoning Board will consider Westminster Choir Colege's request for a special permit for a parking area serving buildings on a different lot. The buildings are not only on a different lot, they are in a different town the Borough.

The parking is not only in the Township, but in a residential zone. The Choir College wants to expand its present parking space at the bend in Franklin Avenue.

Alexander Land Company ("The Rusty Scupper") will ask permission to block out a parking lot to the south of the new restaurant on Alexander Street. It would accommodate

Question for the Rabbit

Easter bunny's
Late this spring —
Does that mean sun
Upon the wing?

It's high time the sun warmed up the world. After three mild winter months, April temperatures have been running below normal.

The man is returning to his soggy mood, he admits. Showers Wednesday, Thursday and possibly Saturday are in the forecast. He's hoping — with the rest of us — for a sunny Easter Day.

Tell Your Ideas to School Group

What do you think causes tensions in Princeton's public schools? Do you, yourself, feel at a disadvantage in the school system or threatened by it? Do you have any ideas about how the atmosphere in Princeton's schools could be improved?

The new Advisory Council on Human Relations invites students, teachers, parents to come to the Council with complaints, thoughts, suggestions. In fact, anyone in the community may communicate with the Council on ways for "enhancing the atmosphere in the Princeton School system," in the Council's own words.

People should get in touch with Raymond F. Male, former mayor of the Borough, who is chairman of the new group. Mr. Male's address is 76 Cedar Lane. His telephone number is 924-2286.

So far, the Council has planned no public meetings although some may be held later. It hopes to produce a progress report in June and final recommendations the end of October.

In setting up the Council, the school board assigned it to find out what the barriers to human understanding are in the school system; listen to people with complaints; identify aspects of community life that contribute to racial or ethnic tensions in the schools and develop real programs — rather than generalized suggestions — to help alleviate tensions.

Members, besides Mr. Male, are Florence Burke, Leslie Vivian, Patricia Van Ness, Dorothea Lummis, John Counts, Frank Francisco, Brinton Whitall, Bonnie Wagner, Elizabeth Bates, Becky Mackey, Edward C. Kopp III, Eleanor Pinelli, Fred Tyler and Richard Harbourt.

more cars than the Scupper really needs to provide for, under zoning regulations, more cars than the Princeton Car Wash lot on the other side, an area the Scupper already has permission to use.

Salvatore Concilio, 173 Mansgrove, will ask permission to operate a home occupation. He is a restorer of old paintings. The house he bought was formerly occupied by an architect, which might set a kind of precedent for allowing art restoration.

In zoning termonology, the premises are a "prior existing non-conforming use," which means that although an architect used to have offices there, such use isn't in harmony with the present zoning ordinance.

WOMAN, 58, IS RAPED In Her Apartment. A 58-year-old Borough woman was assaulted and raped in her apartment at 1:12 Saturday morning.

Police quoted the victim as saying that after opening her door, her assailant slapped her in the face and forced her to her bedroom. She was later taken to Princeton Medical Center and examined.

The suspect was described as in his early 20s. Lt. Theodore Lewis reported that police have good leads and expect to solve the case soon.

DRUG RAID CONDUCTED At Bank Street Apartment. Four Borough policemen, armed with a search warrant, conducted a drug raid Friday evening at 11 at a Bank Street apartment.

Arrested and charged with possession of controlled dangerous substances were three adults and five juveniles. Lt. Theodore Lewis reported that the apartment had been under surveillance for four to six weeks.

Charged with possession of marijuana and pills were George L. McGowan 3d, 26, 246 John Street; Marion F. Stokes Jr., 18, 191 Witherspoon Street; and Raymond Ranalldo, 18, 437 Ewing Street. They were later released after being issued a complaint summons.

The five juveniles, ranging in age from 15 to 17, including three females, were released to their parents. All were from the Princeton area, police said.

Taking part in the raid were detectives Timothy Huizing and Thomas Michaud of the Borough's narcotics squad and Ptl. Charles Harris and Ptl. Gerald Patterson.

Youth Arrested. Thomas P. Marvo, 19, 27½ Witherspoon Street, was arrested Friday evening by Det. Huizing, who charged him with possession of marijuana and illegal possession of a prescription drug. He was issued a complaint summons and released.

Mauro was arrested when police answered a disturbance call at his address. Police allegedly detected an odor of marijuana when they entered the apartment and allegedly observed a quantity of it lying on a dresser.

Harold L. "Doc" Humes, 48, 11 Madison Street, was arrested Saturday evening in front of P.J.'s Pancake House, Nassau Street, and charged with possession of more than 30 grams of marijuana. Ptl. Ronald Holiday made the arrest.

Humes was being sought for allegedly ripping a telephone receiver off the wall the previous evening at the pancake house. When police arrived, however, he was gone.

After his arrest Saturday, he was brought to police headquarters where police, in processing him allegedly found a plastic bag containing green vegetation in his possession. Humes was given a complaint summons on both charges and released.

At 12:07 Sunday morning, the manager of P.J.s called police to report that someone had hurled a brick through a 4 x 6 - foot front window. Sgt. Ralph Procaccino investigated.

OFFICE IS ENTERED At Palmer Square. The office of Stewart Information Services, 1 Palmer Square, was entered last week by someone who took $35.80 from an office desk.

Police said that the intruder removed the lock of the office door to enter. Ptl. Victor Fasanella investigated.

David van der Zwaag, a student at the Princeton Theological Seminary, told police last week that someone entered his unlocked room at North Hall, 100 Stocketon Street, and took $197 from a metal box atop a filing cabinet. Also, taken, he said, was a $33.75 check.

Louis Pazia of Toms River lost a tape deck valued at $40 Friday from his car which was parked in the YMCA lot. Ten tapes, however, were left behind. Police said that a vent window had been forced.

No Kopp Decision

To the obvious disappointment of Edward C. Kopp, Township Committee announced Monday night that it hadn't been able to reach a decision on allowing Mr. Kopp to build his 33 apartments, because additional legal material requested by Committee hadn't been delivered until that day.

Committee had asked William Miller, counsel to the Regional Planning Board, and A.C. Reeves Hicks, attorney for Mr. Kopp, to provide supplementary legal memoranda to bolster their respective positions. Mr. Kopp pointed out that his briefs had been in on time. Mr. Miller encountered delay.

A special public meeting of Township Committee will be held next Monday at 8 p.m. to consider the Kopp case. Longer tavern hours will be voted on at the same meeting.

Cromwell, 349 Walnut Lane, reported Friday afternoon that a wallet containing $14 had been stolen from her pocketbook behind a desk in the YMCA building.

She told police that she saw three youths running from the office at the time, all wearing red sneakers. One juvenile has been arrested and charged with the theft, police said.

FIRE IS DETECTED

In Little Brook School. Possible serious damage was averted Thursday afternoon shortly after 5 when a student walking by Little Brook School noticed a small fire through a window. She notified the custodian who in turn called Township police.

The fire, confined to a desk area in the kindergarten, was extinguished by the custodian. Sgt. Robert Heacock, who investigated, found a small pile of papers on a desk that had been set afire and a book of matches nearby. There was only slight damage to the desk, police said.

PLANNING FOR "1776"?

Check with New Group. Princeton's new Bi-Centennial Committee will soon be conferring with all the community's organizations about their plans for celebrating America's bi-centennial in 1976.

William Selden, chairman of the bi-community, bi-centennial group, said this week that letters will go to educational institutions, organizations, and every kind of group he can think of. Mr Selden hopes to find out, by the end of August, what plans everybody has.

He emphasized, in a joint press conference this week with Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley, that his group will co-ordinate various events and provide some stimulus for organizations that may not yet have thought of "1776." His committee won't, in short, run the show.

Mayor Cawley suggested that formal, "serious" events like symposiums, conferences, perhaps a symbolic completion of community housing projects, might be in the plans. For "fun," he said, organizations

Two Boards Lead to Old Shipwreck

When central-Jerseyans take a summer vacation at the shore, they don't usually expect — although they may hope — to find a splendidly romantic wrecked ship, almost in the front yard.

Sue Langston, who lives in Cranbury, did. She found the 34-foot amidships of the George R. Skolfield, wrecked over half a century ago. Last Saturday, the sea-saga came to a happy home port when the George R Skolfield was carefully loaded on a low bed trailer truck, an eight foot-wide oversize load, to begin the long voyage to Bath, Maine, and the Marine Museum there.

It was in September 1971, that Mrs Langston saw two boards in the sand near Sea Isle City 20 miles south of Atlantic City, where the Langstons had a summer home.

"Only two boards," she recalls, "I waited for a northeaster — and it only took two weeks — and she was scoured free of sand by the storm. At first, I thought she was a warship because of her massive construction. About 12 15 feet of her was exposed . . .

Word began to get around Sea Isle, and Mrs Langston quickly took out a legal salvage claim through an attorney. She found experts who would move the ship. They waited for a low tide and, one day early that November, moved the George R. Skolfield to safe harbor, inland.

Identifying the remnants of the ship involved a happy time of detective work for Mrs Langston.

"I scouted around Sea Isle and found an old sailor whose father had done life-saving service when the ship was beached. His father had taken a step-plate from the ship with her name on it. The storm had been in 1920, but she was built in 1895 — a three-masted schooner that had been caught on the shoals and stranded."

The 34-foot center piece has been sent off to Maine because the George R. Skolfield was built in Brunswick, Maine, and Mrs. Langston felt she ought to be sent "home."

What now?

"I'll go on to another!" Mrs Langston says, "I have a list of 180 known shipwrecks on the New Jersey shore — the currents, shoals, inlets and heavy storms on this coast pulled a lot of ships down, and I've begun already to hunt the beach . . ."

Inflation Loses Round

Trade Show Consultants, Inc., of Route 206 which operates the concession stand at the Community Park pool complex, wrote the Recreation Board that if its contract were renewed for another year it would put a freeze on all prices — even though it was paying 34% more for hot dogs alone.

The board, recognizing a good thing, voted to renew its contract for another year. Hot dogs cost 30¢ at the pool in 1971 but no member on the board could recall if they were increased to 35¢ last year or not.

In another plus, recreation director Donald Barr announced that a long-sought convenience — a pay telephone at the tennis courts — would be installed next month. It will be helpful for doctors who wish to leave a number and receive calls, and for those looking for a fourth for tennis, he said. The phone will be installed in the tennis shed.

Pre-Kindergarten Applications Ready

A limited number of four-year-olds (who must have turned 4 on or before November 30, 1973) will be accepted into the pre-kindergarten program of the Princeton Regional Schools. Deadline for returning completed applications is May 4.

Preference will be given to children who have special needs. This includes children with physical, emotional, learning, or language problems, or perhaps a combination of these. If you believe your child qualifies, you may obtain an application form at any Princeton elementary school office, or through the Office of Special Services, John Witherspoon School.

Recommendations will also be accepted from local pediatricians, private nursery schools or similar referral agencies in the Princeton area.

In May, applicants will be screened to determine which children seem to be in greatest need. Screening will include a parent interview, observation, interaction with a school psychologist and information from doctors, nursery school teachers and so on.

Classes will be held next fall in Littlebrook and Riverside Elementary Schools.

Bike Race Set

Top-speed, Olympic caliber cyclists will turn Walnut Lane and Moore Street into gala race course on Saturday, May 12, when the Century Road Club holds a 40-lap bicycle race on the streets.

Township Committee gave its approval Monday night, but asked the club to get some liability insurance, just in case. Spokesmen for the club said they'd interviewed residents of the streets and found them "enthusiastic."

The race will be held from 4 to 6 over the course. Finish line will be 100 yards south of Guyot on Walnut Lane. Marshalls and roped-off areas will keep the crowds in safe areas and Township police will be on hand. Spokesmen said the cyclists achieve an average speed of 25-27 miles an hour, with 40 m.p.h. in the final sprint.

"Beautiful Day." The six members of "It's A Beautiful Day" will give a rock and jazz concert in McCarter on Monday, May 7, at 8 p.m. as part of the spring series of pop events.

"It's a Beautiful Day" comes from the San Francisco area. The group will bring along singer-songwriter Andy Pratt as guest.

Rock singer Lou Reed will come to Alexander Hall Monday, May 11 at 8 p.m., and tickets for the Reed show will go on sale next Monday.

McCarter's spring pops will conclude Friday, May 18 when the Beach Boys return to Dillon Gym.

HARAMBEE BACK

With Annual Production. Harambee House, the black theatre organization composed chiefly of University students, will present its annual production in McCarter Theatre Sunday, May 13, at 8 p.m. Tickets may be ordered now at the theatre box office.

"Prisoners" is the title of this year's production. Its theme will be the situations and feelings of people brought to this country in chains, people who still, after 300 years, feel imprisoned in many ways.

"CHARLIE BROWN"

Movies-for-Kids. "A Boy Named Charlie Brown", based on the Charles Schultz comic strip, will be shown in McCarter's "Movies for Kids" series this Saturday at 11 a.m. Tickets will be on sale from 10 a.m.

The full length animated film features everybody in the "Peanuts" game — Lucy, Linus, Snoopy, Schroeder and Charlie himself. Mr. Schultz wrote the script and supervised production.

SURF!

Waves Are Stars. It's the waves themselves that star in "Five Summer Stories," the surfing film scheduled for two showings at McCarter this Saturday. Screenings will be at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. and unreserved tickets are now on sale at the theatre box-office.

As Surfer Magazine puts it, "this film captures the wonderland inside the lip, inside

FIRST OF TWO
For City Center Actors. "Next Time I'll Sing to You" and "The Hostage" will be presented by the City Center Acting Company, one play in April and the other in May, when the young actors pay two visits to McCarter Theatre.

"Next Time I'll Sing to You" will be given this Friday at 8:30 p.m. The Brendan Behan play will be presented May 18 and 19.

An absurdist comedy, "Next Time" deals with an 84-year-old hermit from Essex, England. The story is cast as a play-within-a-play, and it involves the author-director, a philosopher, a joke-teller and a girl who insists she is her own sister.

"FUTURE" IS HISTORY
In Triangle Show. "Future Schlock," Triangle's 84th annual musical, will be an "historically accurate" view of the 20th century, as seen from the 21st. It takes place after "the devastating 1990s holocaust."

"Future Schlock" has been booked into McCarter for an opening on Thursday, May 3. It will be given again May 4 and 5, with a matinee Saturday, May 5.

CAST IN REHEARSAL
For "The Gondoliers". A cast described as the most experienced in its four-year history is in its final month of rehearsal for "The Gondoliers", the spring production of the Princeton Gilbert & Sullivan Association, which will be presented May 16 and 17 at McCarter Theatre.

While all those playing leading roles have extensive theatrical and musical experience, the chorus and minor roles will be filled by a group of experienced students and faculty members from Rutgers, Princeton University and Westminster Choir College, as well as members of the Princeton community who have kept the tradition of a full-scale Gilbert & Sullivan opera in the spring.

OLD MOVIES PLANNED
For ACLU Benefit. Valentino, Laurel and Hardy, and The Son of the Shiek are riding again in "An Evening of Oldies and Goodies." Silents and talkies, accompanied by free beer, food and drinks will be featured at the Unitarian Church Saturday, April 28 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

The old-time movies are a benefit showing for the Mercer County Civil Liberties Union. This is the 4th annual fund-raiser of the local ACLU chapter.

The committee includes Estelle Kuhn, chairman, Lucy Scanlon, Lucy Hackney, Mary Wisnovsky, Lynn Fraker, Nina Alexander, Susan Hockaday Jones - posters, Ellen Wechsler and Ruth Schulman - publicity, and staff members Cathy Gager and Gaby Gross.

Contributions at the door are $10 couple, $5 single, $3 student. Anyone unable to come may send a contribution to Lucy Scanlon, 86 Cedar Lane, Princeton.

been invited by Princeton University to stage his new work "Community" at the college, with dance students of guest instructor, Ze-eva Cohen.

"Community," which is the first part of a larger work, will premiere at Alexander Hall on May 11. The program will also include works by Princeton University dance students.

Mr. Johnson has performed extensively in the New York area and recently returned from Charlotte, North Carolina, where he served as an Affiliate Artist for Affiliate Artists, Inc., an organization devoted to bringing artists of all types to various parts of the country.

This September, Mr. Johnson will begin serving as Artistic Director of the Fairmount Center Dance Theatre, an adjunct of the Fairmount Arts Center in Novelty, Ohio. In addition to choreographing new dance works for the company, the artist will perform with the company, teach company classes, and supervise the Dance Theatre's school education programs.

A 1925 COWARD

Comedy, from Noel. A writer; his wife, a "retired" actress, and their two—uh—children, each invite a guest for a spring-in-the-country weekend without telling the other.

Noel Coward sets the stage and carries it from there. It's his comedy, "Hay Fever," scheduled to open next Thursday, April 26, at 8:30 in Murray Theatre as Theatre Intime's final production of the season.

Other performances will be given Friday and Saturday, April 27 and 28 at 8:30, and Sunday, April 29 at 3 p.m. It will be repeated Thursday through Sunday, May 3-6.

Sallie Brophy is directing a cast consisting of Georgine Freedman as the actress, Nat Hartshorne as the writer and Eric Zwemer and Pat Gorman as the two children. Andrew Bloch will portray a diplomat, Alisa Mallovsky a "vamp;" Joe Harbeson a young athlete, Kathie Shenton a flapper and Kim Meyers, the maid. Lowell B. Achziger has designed the set and Gretchen Bullock the costumes.

PLAYHOUSE

Charlotte's Web (now playing) This 94 minute animated cartoon is a retelling of E. B. White's delightful children's tale of Charlotte, a spider, (Debbie Reynolds) who saves the life of Wilbur, a pig (Henry Gibson) by making him an international celebrity.

Paul Lynde sparkles with wit and cleverness as Templeton the Rat and Agnes Moorehead is a rare treat doing the stuttering Goose.

Some may cavil with the quality of the animation when compared to the great Disney classics but this is a film that can be enjoyed by both young and old. White's tale is that literary rarity which can appeal emotionally to all ages because of his wisdom and insight.

MONTGOMERY

The Lady and The Tramp and Snowball Express (now playing) are a pair of Disney films that have been re-issued. Someone is apparently remembering that children enjoy films, too.

GARDEN

Deliverance (now playing) This is a stunning film, beautifully directed, acted and photographed. The unflinchingly-presented violence may upset some viewers.

The story is concerned with a weekend canoe trip on the last untamed river in Georgia. It is a shrewd, devastating mixture of adventure and ecology. The book on which it is based, James Dickey's best-seller, was beautifully written and the film's taut visual style reflects this. The viewer is swept into the narrative and for the next two hours the film never lets go.

Burt Reynolds is the leader of the four Atlanta businessmen who take the trip. He wants to ride the currents as an adventure and because the river is doomed. His companions are tag alongs: Jon Voight, Ronny Cox, Ned Beatty, and what happens to these four men is really horrifying.

John Boorman's direction gives the film an unerring sense of rhythm to match the backgrounds. The color has the look of camouflage, bathed in browns and greens. Vilmos Szigmond has provided the same ravishingly beautiful photography as he did in "McCabe & Mrs. Miller," "The Hired Hand" and "Images."

SPRING IN BLOOM

Gay Colors at Piccadilly. Regardless of the weather outside, when you enter the Piccadilly at 200 Nassau Street, Spring is definitely in bloom. There is a large stock of skirts, slacks, tops and dresses featuring gay spring colors of green, yellow, pink, red and blue.

The owners, two sisters, Ruth Ann Basmajian and Judy Guldalain, have selected many wrap-around reversible skirts which come in either a short or at-the-knee length. We saw some interesting prints such as red strawberries on a navy background. This skirt reverses to a soft green trimmed with green braid.

There is also a sweet all-over flower print in tones of blue, pink and green, with the reversible side and trim in green. This same flower print comes in bright navy, red and yellow, and this one reverses to a striped skirt of the same colors, —a nice way to get two skirts for $22.

For those who favor the short length or for the lady golfers, Piccadilly has some nice culottes. In solid kettle-cloth which easily drip dries, we saw a pretty yellow one with blue banding and white rickrack on the front and across the hem, for $24.

And, not to ignore the tennis players, there are some short white pique culottes that would be de rigueur on on any court. These come in solid white or with trim such as navy and red scallops or pale blue rickrack.

Filling out the skirt rack are some regular skirts in solids, plaids and florals. One such skirt is a beige plaid with a front inverted pleat and a belt for $26. This skirt would be marvelous with a blazer, and the Piccadilly has these also.

A rayon and polyester blazer with the look of linen comes in navy or bright green with brass buttons. There is also a cotton and polyester one in a navy and white plaid which would be wonderful with a white skirt or slacks. All the blazers are $50.

At the other end of the store is a wide selection of slacks, and this year these are at the waist. Right away we noticed a white polyester pair for $20 to go with that blazer.

There is an interesting two-color stripe on a white background that comes in several versions, such as navy and red; orange and yellow; lavender and pink; or green and blue. The slacks are $20 and they come with a wide white belt. Piccadilly also carries a back zip style without a belt in solids, gingham and a bright multi-colored floral.

To go with these many-colored skirts and slacks, there is a wide array of tops, many of which are fine alone or in a layered look. These come in either a ribed boucle or a flat knit, and are available in several styles ranging in price from $10-$20.

Long skirts are as enjoyable as ever and some are cut flat below the waist and then flare out so as to look well with a blazer. One such skirt is white with a bright flower print and it comes with a white patent leather belt, $22. Piccadilly also offers a wrap-around skirt in an evening length, and one particularly pretty one comes in a light green covered with a bamboo pattern.

Then there is a sophisticated banlon skirt in an abstract print of bright blue and hot pink, which features side slits and a fabric sash. Back with the blouses there is a long-sleeved scoop-necked blouse with a ruffle at the neck and cuffs that comes in a pink that is perfect with this skirt.

Dresses range from a polyester and cotton daytime style to dressy banlons in small flower prints for the evening. A favorite of ours was a long-sleeved shirtwaist (perfect for these Spring days) that comes in a green nylon with a pretty flower print. It has subtle seaming that gives it a gentle flare and it comes with a narrow green patent leather belt. The dresses are priced from $22 to $52.

The Piccadilly carries both junior and misses sizes from 6-16. It is open every day except Sunday from 10 to 5:30 and either Judy or Ruth Ann will be happy to help you put their many separates together.

IMAGINATION IMPORTANT

At Toy Carousel. The stock at Toy Carousel reflects owner, Ron Tyler's philosophy towards toys. He feels if a child can't use his imagination, something is wrong with today's society.

As a result, his store does not carry TV specials, windups or dolls that burp. What the store does specialize in is the best buys of the top quality items.

An example of this philosophy is the Effanbee Doll Company, the oldest in the United

It's New To Us

Sutton. It invented the drink and wet doll which remains a doll that will do anything a little girl can imagine. The dolls are varied and enchanting.

There is a baby in a pale [illegible] a little girl doll dressed in a long flowered [illegible] one in a pleasant dress and another all set for her wedding. There are even boy and girl twins wearing red [illegible] party clothes. The Toy Carousel carries the Effanbee dolls exclusively, ranging in price from $5.50 to $24.

Another exclusive is the Animal Fair stuffed animals. They hand crafted, non-breakable and guaranteed six months by the manufacturer and Toy Carousel. One of the most popular ones is Miley, a gray mouse with bright pink ears, feet and a most appealing turned-up nose. Miley is available in 5 sizes, from $5.95 to $12.95.

Five Foot Giraffe. Other animals available are a blue walrus, a frog that can cover a table top, a floppy lion larger than your child a fuzzy squirrel equipped with his own nut, and a five foot giraffe. The Animal Fair toys range in price from $2.50 to $35, and the line also includes hand puppets with the same appealing faces.

Mr. Tyler carries games for adults, families and children, before he will buy a game he learns how it is played and insists that it provide repeated enjoyment. For adults, there are several simulation games with no one correct solution. A game originally designed for city planners is "NewTown" ($9.95) in which the parties build a city from scratch.

In general, Toy Carousel does not believe in guns or items of violence but it does carry two war games which Mr. Tyler feels are the best in their category. "Richthofen's War" concerning the First World War and "France, 1940" dealing with World War II, both of which sell for $8.95. There is also an historical game, "Origins of World War II" in which the players try to contain Germany, and usually discover they can't.

"Chess for Juniors." For the children a new game created by a Princeton girl is called "Climb a Rhyme" ($2.50) in which the players go up a ladder by rhyming words. The store carries an arithmetic lotto game that several teachers feel is the best of its kind ($3.95) and "Chess for Juniors," a learning game the parents might want to borrow, costing $2.95.

With summer vacations not far away, you might want to line up some travel games. Some suggestions from Toy Carousel are "yes and no" pads or a magnetic traffic game in which a child can take his car through tunnels, [illegible] and corners and into parking spaces.

Another aim of Mr. Tyler's is reasonable cost. For instance he has a "Labyrinth" game for $9.95 and a "Hocus Pocus Show" in which the small set has 35 tricks for $6.95. For this same reason he suggests Ecology Labs instead of chemistry sets—they are less expensive, have more experiments and are safer.

For $5.95 a child can run about 30 tests on "Life in the Water" or "Why are Leaves Green." The most popular of these kits has been the large "Pollution Detection kit, at $9.95.

For the littlest member of the family, Toy Carousel has a spinning top from Germany. There is a choice of a top with either train noises or music but best of all the top won't fall over.

The store located in the Princeton Shopping Center opens at 10 weekdays and closes at 6 except for Thursday and Friday evenings when it remains open until 9 p.m.

MUSIC In Princeton

BENNY CARTER HERE For Seminar, Concert. Benny Carter, widely regarded as one of the greatest and most versatile jazzmen, will give a seminar and a concert at Princeton University this Thursday under the auspices of the Afro-American Studies Program and the Sociology Department.

Carter will be the main speaker in a seminar conducted by Prof. Monroe Berger, Chairman of the Sociology Department. The public is invited to this on Thursday at 10:40 a.m., in Woodrow Wilson School, Room 5.

The highlight of Carter's visit to Princeton will be a concert sponsored by the Afro-American Studies Program, Thusday evening at 8:30 at McCarter Theater. Tickets are $1 in advance at the Princeton University Store and at 70 Washington Rd. (office of the Afro-American Studies Program), or $1.50 at the door.

Benny Carter's contributions to jazz are numerous. New York Times jazz critic John S. Wilson has called him "one of the most versatile musicians in jazz." As a composer and arranger, he has for many years been writing for films and TV in Hollywood.

His earlier work, along with that of Fletcher Henderson and Don Redman, established the basis for swing music, which swept the country in the 1930s and 1940s. Since then his musical talent has been in great demand by film studios and by such stars as Pearl Baily, Sarah Vaughn and Peggy Lee. He has recorded with many other stars, including the late Billie Holliday and Ella Fitzgerald.

BENNY CARTER: The jazz musician will give a concert this Thursday in McCarter under the ouspices of the Afro-American Studies program at the University.

PHS Choir Fund Still Needs $8,500

Community interest has been high and response positive, but the Princeton High School drive for choir travel funds has not yet reached its required goal.

When the choir was invited to Europe for participation in the Festival of Three Cities choir, parents unanimously agreed that the choir would go as a group or not at all. Parents of choir student, some of whom have more than one child in the choir, pledged $33,000, a little more than one-half the total needed. While all pledges are confidential as to amount, it was announced that every parent had made a contribution.

Choir members established an Odd Jobs Agency and a baby-sitting service. Their parents conducted a number of fund raising events. The result is a total to date of $57,400, short by $8,500 of the required amount.

The Festival of Three Cities is a cultural program organized by the National Education Foundation. It will provide the opportunity for the choir to sing in historic surroundings, meet and mingle with their peers from all over Europe, and represent the State of New Jersey in cultural exchange and competition. While acknowledging this to be a worthwhile endeavor, the Princeton Regional School Board and Administration have withheld official approval pending completion of the fund drive.

An appeal for individual and corporate gifts is currently being made. This effort, and the raffle sponsored by the Princeton Lion's Club will, it is hoped, complete the drive and provide sufficient funds for the 81 Choir members and 5 chaperones to make the trip.

Special Gifts Chairman is Richard Magee. Contributions are tax deductible, and checks may be made payable to the Princeton High School Choir Fund.

Historical Society Plans 2-Day Tour to Annapolis

There are still some places left for the third of the Historical Society's series of Spring bus tours, a two day trip to Annapolis, scheduled for May 2 and 3.

The tour will include visits to private homes not usually open to the public, as well as to several of Annapolis' well-known restored houses and gardens. First stop, Wednesday afternoon will be at the Londontowne Public House and Gardens, a mid-eighteenth century restoration in what was once a thriving port on the Chesapeake. This will be followed by a visit to Cedar Park, a privately owned plantation built in 1697.

Cocktail parties in private homes will be followed by an authentic eighteenth century feast at the Maryland Inn's King of France Tavern. The menu features such Southern specialties as Smithfield ham and Brunswick Stew.

Thursday will be devoted to a guided tour of Annapolis itself. It will include visits to a privately-owned Federal townhouse, the Hammond-Harwood and Chase Lloyd House and the Para Gardens. Luncheon will be served to the group at Ogle Hall, the eighteenth century house that serves as headquarters for the Naval Academy's alumni association.

For further information or reservations, contact Mrs. Chantal McCarroll at the Historical Society's headquarters, Bainbridge House, 158 Nassau Street or call 921-6748, weekdays between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Streets Closed for May 5 Party

"Pray for sunshine!" is the plea of Philetus Holt, chairman of this year's Art People Party to be held Saturday, May 5. If prayers don't quite make it, the rain date will be Sunday, May 6.

This third annual Art People Party will be held, like last year's, in Witherspoon Street and on Nassau Green in front of Nassau Hall. Witherspoon will be closed off, so that strollers may stroll and potters may throw their clay and everybody will have a traffic-free place to eat ice-cream cones.

As a climax to the day — around 4 p.m. — Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley will perform what Mr. Holt calls a "ribbon de-cutting." He will ceremoniously close off Palmer Square for the start of the five-month experiment that will let the Princeton community see how it feels to turn at least part of the town over to pedestrians.

Various ways to close off the Square are under serious study, the mayor said Tuesday. He rather likes the idea of a row of tubbed trees, with one side of the Square closed by portable barricades that can be removed for fire-trucks or temporary vehicular traffic.

The mayor is scheduled to confer on final plans this Wednesday with police and fire officials, municipal engineers and Art People people, including Mrs. Kathleen Edwards whose idea it was to close the Square.

Craftsmen will be asked, this year, to demonstrate their skill, the mayor explained. The slightly flea-market air of 1972 is less in the spirit of the Art People Party than watching the expertise of a craftsman, committee members believe.

Outdoor eating will probably be carried on with gusto. One-day Board of Health permits will allow Witherspoon's various eating places to move outdoors, if they want to, the mayor said.

Paintings, as before, will be hung from snow-fencing all around Nassau Green. There will be a jury and prizes.

Strolling musicians, a Street Theatre presentation, a traditional Maypole dance by the Princeton Ballet Society, ethnic dances in costume by the Princeton Folk Dance Group, Forest Friends Puppets, and . . . a parade, a knave (unidentified), balloons, and flowers, everywhere.

Mr. Holt told Mayor Cawley's press conference that a Chamber of Commerce survey of Witherspoon merchants found two-thirds happy at the idea of closing off their street for the Party. Even the State of New Jersey seems to be co-operating. Mayor Cawley has received assurances, verbal to be sure, that someone of importance is recommending to someone else of importance, that the state approve the Borough's ordinance closing off Palmer Square.

What more could anyone want except sunshine?

MAILBOX

Mayor, Council Thanked.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Sirs:

Several months ago many residents of the John Witherspoon area including residents of Lytle Street and other interested Princeton citizens vigorously protested the reopening of the OK Bar on Lytle Street.

We believed that a residential street would be a better street if one less bar was there. In spite of the efforts of many, legally the bar can be opened for the selling of alcoholic beverages.

We wish to thank Mayor Cawley, council and the Zoning Board for the considerations given us when our case was presented before them. We would also like to thank you for the publicity your paper afforded us.

We are sure more people understood our feelings regarding the bar because of the opportunity to express them through the news media.

Radio Auction a Success

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The officers and directors of the Princeton Rotary Scholarship Fund would like to take this means of thanking the Town Topics, Radio Station WHWH, and the people of the Princeton Community for their overwhelming support of the Radio Auction that was held on Friday evening, April 6, over Radio Station WHWH.

Over 500 telephone calls to the Radio Station during the Auction kept 27 Rotarians and a half dozen members of our Interact Club mighty busy.

The response resulted in over $6,000 being bid for the merchandise and services contributed by Rotarians, merchants and business people of the Princeton area. A truly great display of civic interest and generosity for our Scholarship Fund!

Don't Give "Easter Pets"

To the Editor of Town Topics:

We, the Trustees of the Animal Placement Agency of the Windsors, are voicing a public complaint against all the buyers and sellers of so-called "Easter Pets": rabbits, chicks, ducks, puppies and kittens.

Most of these animals are bought as surprises for very young children who are totally unable to care for them. Many of these animals are given by friends and relatives who have not even asked the parents' permission to "surprise" their youngsters with furry creatures.

Consequently, the Monday following Easter Sunday, almost every animal shelter is swamped with telephone calls from angry parents who don't want and have no intention of keeping the "Easter pet." Nor are most of these people concerned about what happens to the animal as long as they can get rid of it.

Then there are those families who adore the pets as babies, but lose interest in several months when the animals are fully grown. Again people turn to local shelters as a dumping ground for animals that shoud never have been purchased in the first place.

The solutions seem obvious to us. The state and local authorities should pass legislation prohibiting the sale of such animals as chicks, ducks and rabbits as pets. The average home has no proper facilities for housing and raising these animals.

Another part of the solution lies in the common sense of the buyer. No pet should be bought for a child without the consent of the parent. Parents should also think realistically about their responsibilities concerning proper housing and care of such pets.

That adorable bunny or duckling isn't housebroken, needs a special cage and will be quite odiferous if not kept immaculate. Cleaning these animals is not a child's job. Outdoor cages must be insulated against weather and the animal must be protected from insects which can kill it.

These tame, domesticated creatures literally become "sitting ducks" when released into the wild by disinterested owners. Kittens and puppies need innoculations and annual check-ups, and can cost money when ill. If the recipient (or his parents) are unwilling to meet these financial obligations, they have no right to own the animal.

Furthermore, no one has the right to buy a pet one day and expect someone to take it off his hands if he changes his mind. Animals are a privilege to own and much thought should be given before one is purchased. A little common sense and forethought will avoid a lot of heartbreak later on to both owner and animal.

RCA Praised

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In many instances, a large corporation, such as RCA Labs on Rt. 1 in Princeton, will make headlines when they unfortunately have to let some people go. The cry is "large corporation, no heart" — everyone is just a number, etc., but I, as a small numbered person, would like to heap some praise for a change, on RCA Labs for following through a small suggestion submitted to someone in charge.

Prices for food will be going up this year and some talk around suggested a so called "Victory Gardens" be made by gardeners to help ease their food budget. A small suggestion was made to an RCA executive about these gardens, and in two weeks, the ground has been plowed, marked into plot size, available water on site and offered to 80 lucky gardeners who should be working their gardens this week.

My sincere thanks to RCA for carrying out so timely a project so fast, proving to me that a large corporation such as RCA does have a heart.

Drainage Problems Inundate Community Park

If the combination of excessive rain and poor drainage is giving you headaches trying to get your lawn in shape, consider the plight of Andy Tamasi.

Mr. Tamasi is head of maintenance and grounds for the Princeton Recreation Department. His "lawn" is the approximate 15 acres that comprise the playing fields at Community Park, which, until serious problems of compaction, drainage and grading are solved might better be called "Community Swamp."

To a motorist driving past on Route 206, Community Park looks lush and green and fairly flat. Up close it is neither. It is full of weeds, shallow pot holes and large puddles of water. Ideally, the field should be shaped like the back of a turtle so that rain water will drain off easily; rather, it is shaped like a saucer which collects the water in the center.

Because of compaction and poor drainage, the water just lies there. The ground becomes swampy. The grass rots and dies. In its place, knotweed flourishes.

Problems Multiply. The result? Three of the four baseball fields are presently unusable. The Princeton High School lacrosse team which has played its home games at Community Park the past few years is now using the high school football field. Just around the corner is the start of the Princeton Adult softball league which uses all four diamonds three to four nights a week.

ONE POOL TOO MANY AT COMMUNITY PARK: Andy Tamasi, maintenance head for the Princeton Recreation Department, kneels beside one of several pools of water that form in the playing area at Community Park whenever there is a heavy rain. Problems of soil compaction and poor drainage are being attacked.

"The condition of the fields definitely presents more of a problem each year," observed recreation director R. Donald Barr. He described their present state as "horrendous."

What are the reasons for the present predicament?

"When I came here in 1964," recalled Mr. Barr, "the fields were graded, seeded and ready to go." One thing that has happened, he feels, is that the original fill of tree limbs and trunks and the like, which were plowed under, has decayed, causing settling.

In addition, the fields receive heavy use throughout the year, including school gym classes in the spring and fall, flag football and midget football after Labor Day and baseball in the summer. The constant use has compressed the soil and compaction has led to poor drainage.

Solutions? What can be done? First Mr. Tamasi and his staff will go over the fields with a rented aerator. When this $1,000 item was cut from the budget, Mr. Barr warned that without it, "compaction of the ballfields will continue to create a more serious problem and will affect the turf as well as contribute to an increasing number of activity cancellations because of the drainage problem." It was later restored by Council and Committee.

The aerator loosens the soil by pulling out thin, cylindrical plugs of earth from the ground, establishing fertilizer an dwater to penetrate. Next, Mr. Tamasi and his crew, at the recommendation of Harry Slayback of the Mercer County Soil Conservation Commission, who has looked over the Community Park problems at Mr. Barr's request, will lay a main drainage pipe down the center of the hollow.

After digging a french, Mr. Tamasi will lay the perforated pipe, cover it with crushed stone to let the water drain freely and add a thin layer of top soil. Lateral pipes will run off the main pipe every 50 to 100 feet.

Thereafter, water should penetrate the top soil, flow through the crushed stone into the lateral pipes where it will collect in the main trunk which, in turn, will be connected to the one existing drain pipe. The latter is connected to a storm drain which is hooked up to a stream on the other side of Route 206.

The fields also have to be regraded.

At one time this used to be called Community Gardens, commented Mr. Tamasi. "All the Italian families living nearby had gardens here before the war." There were little shacks where the people kept their tools," he recalled, "and you didn't have to worry about anybody taking anything."

The shacks are gone and so too, perhaps, is the feeling of trust, but Mr. Tamasi hopes he can restore some of the fertility the ground once had. After all, what's a park without a lot of green grass?

Happy Birthday dear Harry...
years young!
April 23, 1973

"Everybody loves Uncle Harry" is a familiar theme of people who know Harry Hurvitz. He is a well known figure in the community. Harry came to Princeton in 1934 after a successful career in the jewelry business in Wilkes Barre, Pa. He opened a furniture store, Beliable Furniture Co. on Witherspoon St., and was known as "Old Reliable" by his customers and friends. The Store closed its doors in 1960 and a short time later, Harry started his fourth career in the Men's Dept. of the U-Store. He has been with the store for about 10 years and continues to build friendships among the customers he serves and the people with whom he works. We feel that Harry exemplifies the dependability, trust and good service our customers have come to expect from our store.

We would like to publicly extend our best wishes to our friend and fellow worker Harry Hurvitz, who will be 80 years young on April 23. We ask all his friends in town to come in and say "Happy Birthday, Harry!" on Monday the 23rd.

Happy Birthday to you!

Lawrance R. Thompson

Lawrance R. Thompson, 67, prize winning biographer of poet Robert Frost, a member of the Princeton University faculty from 1937 to 1973 and known to generations of Princetonians as a brilliant teacher-scholar, died April 15, following a long illness at the Princeton Medical Center. He was the 11th incumbent of The Holmes Professorship of Belles Lettres, the University's oldest endowed chair.

The professorship, which he held from 1968 to 1973, was among the many honors conferred upon this leading authority in the field of American literature. He was described by an associate as "a native New Englander whose life's work has been understanding, and interpreting for others, the writings of New England's 'literary giants'."

It was in 1939 that Prof. Thompson, who for reasons of health joined the ranks of Princeton's Professors Emeriti in January, was asked by Robert Frost to become his official biographer with the understanding that the biography would not be published during the poet's lifetime. Throughout the years prior to Frost's death in 1963, poet and biographer were closely associated, with Prof. Thompson on two occasions accompanying Frost to Europe as traveling companion.

In 1966, Prof. Thompson's "Robert Frost: The Early Years — 1874-1916" was published, the first of three projected volumes. The author received the Melville Cane award from the Poetry Society of America for this work.

The second volume, "Robert Frost: The Years of Triumph — 1915-1938," was recognized with the 1971 Pulitzer Prize in biography. The third volume is in preparation.

Prolific Writer. Among Thompson's other publications were numerous studies on other aspects of Frost's life and writings and "Young Longfellow" (1938), widely recognized as the first realistic account of the New England poet's formative years; a highly controversial study of Herman Melville, "Melville's Quarrel with God" (1952, reissued in 1966; "William Faulkner: An Introduction and Interpretation" (1963, expanded and reissued in 1967) which, like the Melville book, grew out of his course lectures at Princeton; and, as editor, a volume entitled "Tilbury Town," presenting the related shorter poems of Edwin Arlington Robinson.

Born April 3, 1906, in Franklin, N.H., Prof. Thompson was graduated in 1928 from Wesleyan University. He earned a Ph.D. in 1938 from Columbia University. He taught at both of these universities before joining the Princeton faculty in 1937 as Curator of the Library's Special Collections of Rare Books and Manuscripts.

He was advanced to assistant professor of English in 1939 and, upon returning in 1946 from a 51 month leave of absence for World War II duty with the Navy, became an associate professor. He was promoted to the rank of professor in 1951.

During World War II, while serving first on the staff of Commander, Eastern Sea Frontier, and then on the staff of Commander in Chief, Atlantic Fleet, he attained the rank of lieutenant commander. He was awarded the Legion of Merit and was authorized to use secret Navy documents in writing "The Strange Cruise of the Yawl Zalda," a true narrative of how an ill-fated sailing vessel on submarine patrol off Long Island in 1942 managed to survive a severe hurricane and, weeks after all hope for it had been abandoned, limped into Ocracoke Inlet, 600 miles down the coast near Cape Hatteras.

For years one of Princeton's most popular lecturers, he gave various graduate courses and several celebrated undergraduate courses, including "English Fiction, 1700 to the Present" and "Four American Authors: Mark Twain, Faulkner, Melville, and Henry James."

He held a Guggenheim Fellowship in 1946-47, and a fellowship provided by the Fund for the Advancement of Learning in 1953. He was the recipient in 1965-66 of a grant from the American Council of Learned Societies to help with the Frost biography. This work was also backed by a McCosh Faculty Fellowship from Princeton, the highest honor the University can bestow upon members of the faculty in the humanities and social sciences.

Prof. Thompson had lectured throughout this country and abroad. He was the first editor in chief of the Princeton

John Lionberger Davis, 94, of Independence Drive, a nationally known art collector and philanthropist, died April 13 in Princeton Medical Center.

A native of St. Louis, Mo. and a graduate of Princeton University, Class of 1900, Mr. Davis devoted his energies to a wide range of public and private concerns. He was a former chairman of the board of the Security National Bank and Savings and Trust Company of St. Louis, served as president of several other companies, was a trustee of four colleges, and held numerous positions in civic organizations.

Mr. Davis donated works of art to the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York, the St. Louis City Art Museum, the Museum of Science and Industry in St. Louis, the New Jersey State Museum, Vassar College and Princeton and Syracuse Universities.

After graduating from Princeton, Mr. Davis received in 1903 a law degree from the St. Louis Law School. He then worked briefly for a law firm in his hometown.

Mr. Davis served as managing director for the Alien Property Custodian in Washington, D. C., during World War I. Following the war, in 1920, he was appointed to the Missouri Children's Code Commission. He also served as chairman of the executive committee of the New Constitution Association of Missouri.

In addition to his position at the bank in St. Louis, Mr. Davis was a former president of the Nassau Realty Company and Lindell Real Estate Company, both of St. Louis, and was a past president of the Atchison Water Company of Kansas. The art collector was also president of the Missouri Association for the Administration of Justice.

Mr. Davis served as an alumni trustee of Princeton University, and as trustee of Vassar, Antioch, and Sarah Lawrence College.

Other civic activities of Mr. Davis included the St. Louis chapter of the English Speaking Union, of which he was president and treasurer. He was chairman of the St. Louis Regional Planning Commission, the St. Louis chapter of the American Red Cross, and the budget committee of United Charities.

HIT BY SHINGLE STACK

Roofer Dies in Medical Center. Thomas W. Bigley Sr., 38, of Covered Bridge Road near Stockton, died in Princeton Medical Center Thursday night following an accident at the construction site of a home on Blue Spruce Drive in Hopewell Township.

The victim was sending bundles of asbestos shingles up to the roof by a mechanical lifter when a 480 pound stack fell some 25 feet and struck him on the head. He was taken, unconscious, to the Medical Center by the Lambertville First Aid Squad at 4:30. He died that evening at 10:34.

Mr. Bigley is survived by his wife, three sons and a daughter.

VIOLATORS WARNED

To Observe Parking Rules. Township Police Chief Frederick Porter has promised to crack down on the rampant parking violations on Leigh Avenue, especially in the area of the John Street intersection.

He said that his department would give violators one week's warning by attaching a notice to the windshield of vehicles in violation. After that, full and strict enforcement.

Chief Porter said that the situation had become intolerable, an eyesore and degrading to the neighborhood. "I understand the existing parking problems (homes and stores placed side by side on a narrow street) and I find it most unfortunate these measures have to be taken," he said. "But property owners and pedestrians also have rights which are being violated by a few who feel they cannot walk a few extra steps."

There is two-hour parking on Leigh from Witherspoon to John Street. From John to Bayard Lane, there are no parking restrictions. Chief Porter said that he has received several complaints about overtime and double parking, parking too close to the intersection, on the wrong side of the street. He mentioned that some commercial vehicles even park across the sidewalk while unloading.

TENTATIVE AGREEMENT

But No "John Hancock" Yet. There may be tentative agreements between officials and members of the Borough and Township police in separate pay talks but PBA president Bernard Lenhardt said Tuesday that nothing has been signed yet and further meetings with the rank and file have been scheduled.

In the Borough talks, the next step is a meeting next Thursday, when Ptl. Lenhard, president of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association 130, will present a full negotiation report to the Borough police.

Settled, he said, have been the issues of salary and terminal leave. Concerning the issue of extra days off, he said both sides have agreed to a review board comprised of Chief Michael Carnevale, Police Commissioner Joseph Moore, Administrator Robert Mooney, himself and the other three members of the PBA negotiating committee.

This committee will review the work schedule and time off. "We haven't come to any conclusions," Ptl. Lenhardt reported, "but we were agreeable to the postponement of this one issue."

In the Township, the PBA negotiating committee has has scheduled a meeting for Thursday — mainly, Ptl. Lenhardt said, "for clarification." He added that the Township also has reached a tentative agreement and that "both are quite parallel."

In West Windsor, which also embraces Local 130, Ptl. Lenhardt reported that there was a productive, open negotiation for three and one-half hours last Tuesday but the meeting had to be adjourned at 12:30 because of committments by Gerald Dorf, counsel for the municipality. Talks will be resumed next Thursday morning.

RECREATION ACTIVITIES

There will be a softball meeting on Thursday, April 19 at 8 p.m. in the Borough Hall Conference Room. Interested ballplayers and managers are invited.

The final results in the ladies paddle tennis playoffs are: Winners, Olga Seiler and Alice Robinson; Runners Up, Marjorie Smith and Sheila Stuart.

FOUR ARE HURT

In Intersection Crash. Four persons sustained an assortment of bruises and lacerations after a U Haul van and station wagon collided Saturday afternoon at Witherspoon Street and Valley Road. All were treated at Princeton Medical Center.

John D. Force, 19, of Flemington, driver of the station wagon, was ticketed for failing to observe a stop sign on Valley by Ptl. David W. Burr. Riding with him were Holly Force, 16, and Wendy Birnbaum, 15, both of Flemington.

Driver of the van was William J. Tresnan, 21, of Brooklyn. Both vehicles had to be towed away.

Hit by Tailgater. Carol K. Nunnally, 30, 478 Riverside Drive, refused treatment for a bump on the head following an accident on Princeton-Kingston Road at 12:01 Saturday morning, some 700 feet east of Snowden Lane.

She told police she was driving about 40 miles an hour when she noticed headlights behind her. She continued on when suddenly her car was struck on the left rear fender, causing her to lose control. Her small foreign car left the roadway and hit a tree.

The other car continued on without stopping, she said. The only description that she was able to give police was that it was white.

Cycle Investigation Continues. Ptl. Robert Nielsen and Det. Anthony Pinelli are continuing their investigation of a motorcycle incident a week ago on Herrontown Road involving Patrick J. Davis, 17, 32 Stetson Way.

The Kawaski motorcycle is owned by Bryce Maxwell, 19 McCosh Circle. Police described damage to it as total.

Davis has been charged by Ptl. Nielsen with reckless driving, being an unlicensed driver and failing to display license plates. He was taken to the Medical Center by police for treatment of a neck sprain and abrasions.

Ptl. Nelsen, riding in an unmarked patrol car, observed Davis riding on Herrontown Road with no license plate and wearing no protective clothing. As he turned his car around to give pursuit, Davis, he said, accelerated swiftly.

At speeds in excess of 60 miles an hour, Davis zig-zagged across the roadway before he lost control. His cycle hit an embankment, tossing both rider and bike in the air.

Recovering, Davis ran off in the woods, pursued by Ptl. Nielsen. After running about 150 yards, he stopped and gave up.

ANYBODY RUNNING?

Deadline Next Week. Political poker players always hold their cards tight and close this time of the year: filing deadline for candidates for public office is next Thursday, April 26.

In the Borough, Councilman Martin P. Lombardo is expected to run for a second term. Councilman Joseph P. Moore says he hasn't yet made up his mind. Both are Democrats. The Republicans are not saying, formally, who will oppose.

In the Township, Mayor Jay Bleiman will unquestionably run for a second term. The Republicans may line up Committeeman Sanford C. Rey nolds to run agaist him for the three-year term that's available, and choose someone else to run for the remaining one year in Mr. Reynolds' term.

The three-year term was originally won in 1971 by James A. Floyd, who held it for one year. When he moved from Princeton, Mr. Reynolds was named to succeed him for one year. After that time, someone must run for the final year of the term.

HOURS ARE CHANGED

In Swim Program. The Joint Recreation Board at its meeting Tuesday announced a change in the hours of its instructional swim program from 9 to 12 to 10 to 12 in the morning. Classes will be cut from 45 to 30 minutes.

The water is too cold for children that early in the morning, said Donald Barr, recreation director, in announcing the change. In addition, there will be two four-week sessions instead of one eight-week session. Beginners and advanced will swim on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, intermediates on Tuesday and Thursday.

Seltzer on TV

Daniel Seltzer, chairman of the University's theatre committee, will appear this week on the premiere program of a new TV series, "The Humanities Film Forum."

The Nicol Williamson "Hamlet" will be shown in this first program, followed by a discussion featuring Dr Seltzer, Dr. James Billington of the University's faculty, and Dr. Maynard Mack of Yle.

The program will be on Philadelphia's W H Y Y (Channel 12) this Thursday at 8 p.m. This Saturday, it may be seen at 8 p.m. on Channel 12 and Trenton's Channel 52, and at 9:30 p.m. on New York's Channel 13.

The pool complex will open the weekend of May 26. It will then be closed during the week and reopen the weekends of June 2-3 and 9-10. It will be open June 16 seven days a week through Labor Day.

In other pool business, the board voted to allow the Princeton Nursery School to again us ethe Grover Avenue wading pool Tuesday and Thursday mornings through July and August and agreed with a recommendation of board member Wilbert Brooks that the John Street pool be painted orange or some vivid color. Mr. Brooks stated that a large cement oval pipe at the pool had been painted a dull, drab grey for 25 years. "It's discouraging to the kids," he said.

In executive session, the board was scheduled to review its entire fee structure for seasonal and daily rates to the pool and tennis courts—prices would not be changed this year—and discuss a request by the Princeton Medical Center to use the parking lot next to the playing fields at Community Park for patients, staff and visitors to offer temporary relief to the inadequate parking facilities on the hospital grounds.

EASTER MUSIC SET

For Good Friday. Gallery 100 will present a program of Easter season music on Good Friday afternoon at 3.

Baroque and Renaissance pieces by Gabrieli, Purcell, Scheidt, Holborne, and others will be played by the Princeton Brass Quintet: Jim Conant, trumpet, Dave Hanson, trumpet, Marie Csete, french horn, Scot Butler, baritone, and Tedd Judd, tuba.

SWIM, DANCE, HAVE FUN!

At All-Community Party. A "Youth Night" party will be held for all high school and college students in the Greater Princeton Area Saturday, April 28, from 8 p.m. until 1 a.m. at the YM-YWCA. Admission is $1.

The idea came from the directors of Princeton's various youth services who have been holding meetings all during the school year. They had discussed a party among themselves, but it wasn't proposed to Princeton's youth until the first of this spring's Speak-Outs, when Princeton Youth Center director Len Brown mentioned it and asked whether anybody would volunteer to organize. The answer was "yes."

Students will have access to the "Y" pool, gym and other facilities. There will be swimming from 8 p.m. until 10:30 p.m., basketball from 8 p.m. until 11 p.m. and dancing from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. The Fordham Road Blues Band and another, to be chosen, will play. There will also be a poetry - reading, and guests may bring a favorite poem or one they have written.

Sponsors are the agencies represented on the Youth Concerns Committee of the Council of Community Services.

FUNDS SOUGHT

For Goreleigh Mural. A fund-raising garden party will be held Sunday, April 29 from 4-7 p.m. at 478 Lake Drive to finance a mural by Princeton artist Rex Goreleigh for the building of the Somerset Community Action Program.

The mural, is "The World of the Migrant Worker," a world which Mr. Goreleigh has been exploring in depth since he first made water - color sketches in 1962 of black migrant workers from the south at work in New Jersey fields.

The garden party is being held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Finch, organizers of a group called the "G.G.'s" — or the "Goreleigh Group" — formed to raise funds for the mural.

At the party, Mr. Goreleigh will have on display eight of his paintings in a series called "Growth." A mock-up of the proposed mural will also be on view.

Mr. Goreleigh, a Princeton artist for the past 26 years, came here in the late 1940s as director of the oganization known as Pinceton Group Arts. He founded the Studio-on-the-Canal, where he teaches and maintains his studio.

VOLUNTEERS ARE VITAL

In Work at Hospital. "The hospital volunteer 'specialist' is now — more than ever — an active member of our health care team," says Walter A. Seligman, administrator of The Medical Center at Princeton. "The volunteer," he declares, "is an integrated component of The Medical Center mechanism. As such, we find our volunteers 'specializing' in certain kinds of service."

Some members of the volunteer staff spend their hours of service with the children in the pediatrics department; others prefer working in the many fund-raising activities.

"The jobs open to volunteers vary as widely as the services provided by The Medical Center," says Mrs. Deborah Livingston, director of volunteers at the health care institution.

Mr. Seligman points out that "at Merwick — our extended care and rehabilitation unit — volunteers have immersed themselves in the intricate process of heping the convalescing patient return to a normal life. It is difficult work, but it is gratifying."

"And," says Mrs. Livingston, "we've come to depend heavily upon these conscientious, enthusiastic people. Working at Merwick requires a certain ability to empathize with the chronically ill."

"The Merwick volunteer necessarily has considerable patience — rehabilitation is seldom a quick process," says Mr. Seligman. "But a sense of achievement is realized by each volunteer at Merwick — I doubt there are more than a few feelings to compete with the excitement of watching a patient you've encouraged reach a plateau in the unit's extensive rehabilitation schedule."

"A volunteer's involvement with a patient can be therapeutic in itself," The Medical Center administrator continues. "The patient senses the fact that the volunteer is helping — just to help," he says. "The patient knows someone cares."

"The Medical Center encourages volunteers wanting to work at Merwick," says Mrs. Livingston. "But, we alert each prospective volunteer to the commitment required — it is considerable."

Friendship Club to Celebrate 42nd Birthday

"Our objective is to work and serve the hour in helping to solve the many problems, to study conditions in cities and countries and in the spirit of Christ, by personal contact and sympathy, To Lift as We Climb."

With and by this Credo, members of the Friendship Club live. The Club, organized 42 years ago by the late Mrs. Bertha Brandon, will celebrate Sunday, April 29, with an Anniversary Tea at the YWCA from 4-6 p.m. The public is invited to attend, and the donation is $2.

Affiliated for many years with the New Jersey State Federation of Colored Women's Club, Princeton's Friendship Club has moved in quiet ways throughout the community. The group is probably best known in Princeton for the aprons, frivolous little cocktail gaities as well as sturdy, no-nonsense coveralls—that are made by members and sold each year at the Princeton Medical Center's June Fete. Materials and workmanship are donated, as the Friendship Club's contribution to the hospital.

Home-made bread and biscuits, made by members, are sold each spring at the April Annual Association of the New Jersey Neuropsychiatric Institute.

Every year a scholarship award is presented to a Princeton High graduate, and to needy students from Princeton who have gone on from high school.

"Our treasury is always empty—money doesn't stay long enough to get warm!" smiles Mrs. Hazel Rivers.

Fund Raisers. Money is raised through teas, like the Anniversary Tea, or frequent teas held at members' homes. Charles Higgins, the black musician, gave a fund-raising concert on the theme of Negro History.

Friendship Club members take a cruise to Bermuda, travel to New York by bus to see a play, or visit the Pennsylvania Dutch Country—a favorite outing and all these trips raise money for the treasury.

Through the Friendship Club, money has gone to the United Negro College Fund, the Red Cross, the Needle Work Guild, the United Fund, the Frederick Douglas Home in Washington, among others, and toward the purchase of books related to the black experience, to the Princeton Public Library.

Privately, away from the public view, Friendship Club members visit the sick and shut-in, and quietly help with money where it is needed.

Busy at Christmas. When the new home and school for boys was opened in Skillman, Friendship Club members immediately added the school to their list. Christmas cookies—home-made, of course—and punch made a holiday party for the boys. Each year, the Club provides toys for a "house" at the Neuro-Psychiatric Institute, and, for older inmates, fills stockings with soap or toothpaste.

The Friendship Club and its individual members, have worked tirelessly for years for better housing in Princeton.

"We attend meetings and hear the problems, but there never are answers—it's all slow motion," is the comment of Mrs. Rosa Jones.

"We don't see the old names and faces any more," says Mrs. Rivers quietly, "kids who grew up here can't find a home. I wish we could get some land and sell it to these kids, so they would have something to call their own. It's only promises, promises."

But the Anniversary Tea will be brighter. The Club, down to ten members now from the more than 30 it had some 15 years ago, will celebrate with the kind of steady, quiet dignity that has characterized its long years of "serving the hour in the spirit of Christ."

Cadet Richard J. Giaimo, son of Mrs. Elvira F. Giaimo III, 49 Longview Drive, and Edward C. Giaimo, 404 Foxrun Lane, Plainsboro, attended the 25th annual Arnold Air Society (AAS) National Conclave just concluded in Salt Lake City, Utah. Also making the trip was Cadet Donald Latterman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max F. Latterman of Princeton.

The Modern Language Association of America has awarded its fourth annual James Russell Lowell Prize for an outstanding literary or linguistic study by a member of the MLA to Theodore J. Ziolkowski, Professor Modern Languages at Princeton University, for his book "Fictional Transfigurations of Jesus," published by Princeton University Press. This title has also been nominated for a National Book Award.

In awarding the prize, the committee described Dr. Ziolkowski's work as "a handsome, intellectual exhibition, meticulous and energetic in its ordering of diverse materials. Ranging widely through fiction from 1872 to 1966, Dr. Ziolkowski effectively distinguishes "fictional transfiguration" from other literary presentations of Jesus, with noteworthy faithfulness to esthetic values, along with acuteness in perceiving them. The most striking quality of the book, however, is the imaginative daring of its conception. It is a genuinely serious and vital literary study."

The second meeting of the Princeton University Tenants' Committee took place Tuesday evening, April 10, in the Hibben Apartments' meeting room.

The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the proposed 8% rent increase in University rental housing and to hear a report of an April meeting between three elected representatives of the Tenants' Committee and representatives of the Administration.

It was reported that while sympathetic to the tenants' plight, the Administration was adamant in its decision to raise the rents without any cost-of-living increase in salaries.

The Administration points out that the Real Estate Department operated at a $400,000 loss last year. However, it declined to break down this aggregate figure or reveal which rental units operate at a loss.

According to the Tenants Committee, the administration contends that there is an inequity between the 50% of staff in rental housing and those in non-rental housing with the former receiving an average of $640 per year in subsidy. The Administration admitted, however, that 80% of those in non-rental units are being helped with low rate University mortgages — a comparable subsidy, the committee feels.

The meeting closed with a discussion of appropriate responses to the Administration's position and possible further actions that might be taken in the tenants' cause. Another meeting is set for Tuesday, April 24, 8 p.m. in the Hibben meeting room.

Anyone interested in further information or in working with the committee is encouraged to call 924-7269.

MANUSCRIPTS ON VIEW

At Art Museum. An exhibition of Greek Manuscripts from American Collections is now on view at the Princeton University Art Museum. Comprising 68 illuminated manuscripts from 21 North American collections, it is the largest of its kind to be held in the United States.

It offers the first opportunity in over 25 years to examine side-by-side most of the truly outstanding illuminated Greek manuscripts in the United States, representing the pioneering initiative of such American collectors as Robert Garrett, Henry Walters and J. P. Morgan. Twenty of these items have never been included in any exhibition, fewer than a dozen have been recently displayed in their own institutions.

Although none of the few extant pre-Iconoclastic illustrated Byzantine manuscripts belongs to an American collection, this exhibition provides a representative cross-section of texts and styles from the ninth to the eighteenth century, as well as two codices with with modern forged miniatures.

The exhibition honors Prof. Kurt Weitzmann, Professor of Art and Archaeology Emeritus, at the University. Prof. Weitzmann, now 69, received his doctorate from the University of Berlin and came to the United States in 1935. He has been a member of the Institute for Advanced Study since that year as well as a professor at Princeton from 1945 until his retirement last June.

A Look Back. The exhibition provides an extraordinary opportunity to trace at first hand stylistic trends in Greek manuscript illumination from the end of Iconoclasm in the ninth century well into the period following the fall of Constantinople in 1453.

The tenth century, often called the Macedonian Renaissance in recognition of the revival of classical taste evident in works of art produced under the court patronage of such scholarly emperors as Leo the Wise, saw the development of a unified naturalistic style evolved in the process of copying antique models.

The illustrated "De Materia Medica" of Dioscorides from the Pierpont Morgan Library is representative of these luxurious copies from antique manuscripts. The portraits of Evangelists were copied from Early Christian models which were in turn based on the portraits of classical poets and philosophers. Such portraits often include complex architectural backgrounds modeled on the decorative stage facades of the Roman theater.

By the end of the tenth century the stylistic forms of the Macedonian Renaissance had become mannered. Miniatures of the first half of the eleventh century show that manuscript painting had become minute and delicate, approaching the quality of enamelwork. The basic style and iconographic formulas of the next several centuries, however, had been established and spread to the Byzantine provinces.

Well Documented. Manuscript illumination in the second half of the eleventh century is unusually well documented in the exhibition with 21 items dated between circa 1050 and circa 1100. They are characterized by elongated weightless figures, flat, schematically highlighted garments and two-dimensional landscapes and backdrops.

In abandoning the naturalistic antique style of the Macedonian Renaissance these miniatures have acquired a new, unified decorative quality and have evolved an aesthetic ideal appropriate to the revived monastic movements of the period led by the Studion monastery and Symeon, the New Theologian. From the third quarter of the century two stylistic extremes may be identified: one is monumental drawing directly upon Macedonian Renaissance models and associated with the Imperial court, and the other, developed in the Studion monastery itself, is delicate.

In the first half of the twelfth century a new sense of buoyant movement, anticipating the expressive qualities of much later illumination, is evident. In the second half of the century illuminations reveal a new concern for emotional realism. By the early thirteenth century a new interest in monumental, simplified forms is at work.

Thirteenth-century miniatures like The Evangelist Mark, often copied from tenth-century models, have an antique quality unknown in Byzantine illumination since the Macedonian Be-naissance. In miniatures of the second half of the century faces, typically painted in loose brush-strokes, are individualized to the point of caricature, and architectural backgrounds are sterometrically rendered and complex. Almost all compositional elements show elongation; and expressions, gestures, and proportions are exaggerated, imparting an emotional intensity to the miniatures unknown in earlier periods, and which continued for the next century.

After the fall of Constantinople in 1453, Byzantine manuscripts painting was continued in several Eastern centers, the foremost of which was Crete. Abandoning the emotional intensity and agitated movement of the last phases of Byzantine art, these centers concentrated on the preservation of earlier traditions.

SPRING TERM PLANNED

By Studio-on-Canal. The Studio-on-the-Canal will offer a 10-week spring term of Art Workshops beginning April 30. The sessions will be extended to three hours — 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 or 7 to 10 p.m.

For beginners or advanced students, Alexander Lee offers a Tuesday morning session in landscape, still life and figure painting. The emphasis will be on watercolor, although students may also work in oils or acrylics.

Mr. Lee is an established professional artist and was a guest instructor at the studio last year. He has also conducted a series of water color sessions at the Hammarskjold School in East Brunswick.

Rex Goreleigh, director of the studio, will instruct the Thursday evening workshop for beginning or advanced students in all media. Subject matter will include still life, landscape and figure studies.

Mr. Goreleigh was the first director of a community group activity in Princeton — Princeton Group Arts, begun in 1947. Since 1955 he has been director of the Studio-on-the-Canal, and has instructed courses in all media in the studio workshops. He is a product of the experimental school, and has studied in New York, Chicago, Paris and Berlin. He has exhibited widely and is represented in many private collections.

The student with previous experience in painting will be interested in Hughie Lee-Smith's Monday evening oil painting workshop with emphasis on the figure. Mr. Lee-Smith is a graduate of the Cleveland School of Art and holds a B.S. degree from Wayne State University. A member of the National Academy of Design, he has been an instructor at the Art Students League and in the special studies program at Trenton State College. He has been associated with the Studio-on-the-Canal for the past 12 years.

In addition to the regular workshop sessions, the Sunday morning sketch sessions will continue at the studio. Long and short poses of the figure are available for studies. A bulletin describing the workshops in detail is available on request from the studio 452-9053.

Graduation Rites a Real Treat for Class in Smorgasbord Cooking

Just a little something...like stuffed veal roll garnished with a flourish of red apple slices and green sprigs of dill, like jellied mackerel ring, centered with sour cream and edged with radishes and carrot curls.

Great Scandinavian recipes, 35 to be exact if you include the breads—graced the tables on a recent Sunday when the smorgasbord class now ending a term at Princeton Adult School gave a buffet party at the house of their teacher, Estonia-born Dr. Hilja Treumut, 46 Henry Avenue.

Perhaps "Baltic recipes" is a shade more accurate, as nearly-delirious guests also sampled Easter breads from Russia and Estonia. The tables were filled with such intriguing samplers as loganberry jam, liptauer dip, stuffed cabbage, Swedish meatballs (inevitable); fruit tarts, almond kisses, feathery light tortes rich in strawberries.

The class has been meeting since the end of January, Marjorie Pardee said. Her contribution was the Dolmas, or stuffed cabbage, as well as an "angel pie" torte. An Austrian recipe for hazelnut cake was eased into the menu by Dr. Treumut as too delicious to be omitted.

Jeannette Piranian talked happily about "the desserts!" and with equal enthusiasm about the fish recipes the class had learned. Johanna Cornelissen, a native of The Netherlands, contributed the meatballs in sour cream sauce as well as stuffed peppers and said frankly that "This has been a very interesting class!"

"I am so proud of my students," was Dr. Treumut's comment. "They are my first class!"

Her kitchen, where last-minute preparations went on without confusion, has shelves full of cookbooks, even one that reprints colonial American recipes and household hints. She also gave a mini course in cookery at Princeton High School this year.

Plates are never large enough at a smorgasbord, and so friends and family went back several times, circling the table, sampling Dee Halligan's salmon loaf, Dale Baker's "gulash," Grace Wiles almond tortes and her liptauer dip.

Jan Flaugher added some fascinating dishes: turkey-and-carrot stuffed pirogs (a sour cream pastry) and Swedish crullers among them. From Marilyn Zonis—blueberry tarts with sour cream pastry ("a lot of things are in sour cream pastry!" she said), as well as such dishes as marinated mushrooms and a golden rice casserole. Ruth Guss made the magnificent veal roll stuffed with ground veal, carrots, eggs and bacon.

Fish was an interesting item for most of the class. They learned two different stuffing recipes, as well as how to make jellied fish dishes, shrimp salad and marinated fish.

"Scandinavian Cooking?" Marilyn Zonis said in sum. "It's a very subtle flavored cooking. The recipes—they are all fun!"

Princeton University has received six grants totalling $46,000 under the Du Pont Company's pioneering Eductional Aid Program which this year is extending aid to 150 colleges and universities. Announcement of the grants was made today by Dr. William G. Bowen, President of the University.

The Department of Chemical Engineering in the School of Engineering and Applied Science received two grants—a Du Pont Young Faculty Grant of $20,000, one of 16 made to engineering and science departments in major universities to support the research of young faculty members, nd also a $5,000 Du Pont Science and Engineering Grant.

Two other departments of instruction, Chemistry and Physics, were awarded Science and Engineering Grants of $10,000 and $5,000 respectively, while the Council on Environmental Studies, chaired by Professor Robert C. Axtmann, of the Department of Chemical Engineering, was singled out for $5,000 Du Pont Environmental Grant "to be used at the discretion of Dr. Axtmann and the Faculty."

Princeton is one of the 20 institutions, including three women's colleges and three predominantly black colleges, which have agreed to select a fellow from among their graduating seniors to participate enabling outstanding young men and women to enter upon graduate study in science or engineering as Du Pont Fellows.

As "selecting institution," where Professor Marvin L. Goldberger, Eugene Higgins Professor of Physics and Chairman of the Department of Physics, "has agreed to be responsible for selecting a Du Pont Fellow," Princeton has received an institutional grant of $1,000. Each graduate department attended by a Du Pont Fellow will receive $10,000 "for living expenses and other educational expenses."

To the phone repairman, you're a problem.

True

False

Every time the telephone repairman goes out on a job, it's to solve a problem. Usually it's a minor technical one that any trained repairman can handle. But sometimes the problem is more involved. And the customer is without phone service for a time. Now he's upset at the phone company. And in turn, at the repairman. The situation calls for tact as well as technical skill.

That's a pretty big responsibility to shoulder. But people have always expected more from the telephone company. So being good isn't good enough.

Our repairmen know this. And because they're committed to satisfying each and every customer, telephone repairmen are going all out to do the job like they want it done in their own homes.

To see that it is, we spent 124,000 hours last year training repair people. We're also building a new training center with the latest, most modern equipment, including three practice homes.

All these things will help us do a good job. But people make the difference. And because telephone people are genuinely concerned about providing good service, they're going all out to live up to the high standard we've set for New Jersey phone service.

Tiger Nine Has Shot at Lead in League Race

Princeton's baseball team, which is short of the .500 mark overall but very much in the Eastern League race with a 3-1 record, will play three games this weekend on Clarke Field that will determine much of its future in the 1973 standings.

Cornell, one of the top powers in the league for the past three or four seasons, will be here Friday for a 3:30 contest. Army, which finished inthe cellar a year ago with a 4-10 mark, will provide the opposition in a doubleheader of seven-inning games Saturday at 1. If rain interferes on either day, the action will take place Sunday

After splitting a twin bill with Pennsylvania, the current league leader, in their first contests in the race, the Tigers repeated last year's masters of Columbia with a pair of triumphs Saturday in New York. In the first game, Randy Blevins pitched the no-hitter, going into an extra inning before he won it.

The Lions scored in the second without the aid of a safe blow on a walk, two wild pitches and a sacrifice fly. That matched the run Princeton had managed, also without a hit, using two walks, a passed ball and a ground out.

Low-Scoring Contest. Neither team could match even these wobbly efforts through the end of the seventh. Blevins started the Tigers off to eventual success with a solid single and after a force out, Steve Loy followed with another hit. One run then crossed on a rifle shot into left by clean-up hitter Ken Beytin and an insurance marker was recorded on a passed ball.

A running grab in deep center by Pete Korsan preserved Blevins' no-hitter in the home half of the eighth. The feat was the second of his Princeton career—he kept Maine from hitting safely in a game here a year ago. Arthritis complicates Blevins' physical condition, with cortisone shots necessary, but he may be the first pitcher to hurl a pair of no-hitters in modern Princeton baseball history.

Bill Coppedge likewise got late-inning help in the second game, the Tigers breaking away from a 2-2 tie with a three-run cluster in the seventh. The final two scored on a 400-foot inside-the-park homer by sophomore Dave Mistretta.

Coppedge needed relief help in Columbia's last turn at the plate, allowing a run before sophomore Scott McHenry took over. A double play on a fly ball and a runner who left third before the catch brought the game to a close.

Earlier in the week, the Tigers allowed Rutgers six runs in the first two innings and never caught up. They scored four of their own mid way through the contest but that was their only outburst as Bob Harding took the 7-4 loss.

In Monday's warm sunshine, McHenry became the first Princeton pitcher this season to record a shutout. Almost as remarkable was the fact that the Tigers managed to score only two runs despite six hits and as many Colgate errors.

Pete Korsan delivered half the victors' hits, batting in both runs. In the second, he delivered Ken Beytin from third with an infield safety, and in the eighth, his single to right brought the Tiger first baseman home again. McHenry's three-hit performance was backed by errorless support from his teammates.

LOSING STREAK GROWS

In Lacrosse. Four defeats from as many nationally ranked teams have brought Princeton back to the .500 mark in lacrosse after the Tigers had won their first four against weaker opposition.

A 12-10 setback in overtime at the hands of Washington and Lee last week was followed by a 9-5 loss to Hofstra Saturday. In the latter game, on Long Island, action was close until the final period when the victors broke away from a 7-5 lead to make it a 9-5 final. Sophomore Bill Chaires paced Princeton with two goals.

Brown this Wednesday and Yale at New Haven Saturday bring the Orange and Black into the Ivy portion of its schedule. The Bruins upset Cornell last week and went into the game here as the favorite for the title. Penn, which the Tigers play at Philadelphia next Wednesday, is also strong.

Near Southern Andros, the ocean seems to have a tongue! Yes, and its tip is nearly 40 miles across. How was this turbulence formed? Blairstown Out — Other Football Changes Set

The new faces on the Princeton athletic scene, Athletic Director Royce Flippin and football coach Bob Casciola, are about to institute some procedural changes in the football picture.

As he tentatively indicated in accepting his appointment here, Casciola has turned his back on the Blairstown training camp. It was as far back as the late 40's that Charlie Caldwell made arrangements to take his squad off campus for two to three weeks, using the facilities of the Princeton Summer Camp to accommodate his players while they went through pre-season drills.

The advantages were twofold: ability to concentrate on football without regard to on-campus distractions, and escape from occasional September heat. If Princeton sweltered in 85-degree temperature, it was 10 to 15 degrees cooler in the Kittatinny Mountains — particularly at night, when a bone-weary tackle wants to sleep.

Accommodations at Blairstown are, however, limited to a maximum of 80 players, and Casciola doesn't feel that what amounts to a pre-season cut should be made. In the past, the personnel which the Tiger coaching staff believes has the best chance of making the team has been invited back — up to a limit of 80.

Inevitably, however, some sophomores who saw little action as freshmen have been by passed without ability to estimate their true potential. "If 110 guys would like to come out for the sport, we should have the room to give them a chance," Casciola says.

Blairstown is accordingly now a part of the past, and the squad will stay here after it reports in late August. It may be hotter than is desirable, but workouts can be held later in the day because the practice fields are lighted. If it rained at Blairstown, practice was curtailed; if it rains here, the squad will be inside Jadwin.

In a change affecting the football fan, all Princeton home games will henceforth start at 1:30, a long overdue policy switch that will allow for consistent planning. In the past, the Tigers started October home games at 2 but began at 1:30 when they traveled to Columbia or Penn.

It was back to 2 o'clock for a late October game with Brown and then back to 1:30 for the November action. What's more, to permit fans to see all of a morning jayvee or freshman game before the varsity contest starts, the kickoff for those contests will be set for 10:30.

Tickets, heretofore available for purchase in person only at somewhat remote Jadwin Gym, will now be sold at Nassau Street locations and in various spots on campus. Reduced prices for those 18 and under are also being planned, not only to football games but other events on the schedule throughout the year.

CREW LOSES TO NAVY

But Lightweights Win. The varsity crew led favored Navy in the early stages of Saturday's race on Lake Carnegie but the heavier, more powerful midshipmen took control at the half way mark and won by a length and a half. The times over 2,000 meters were 6:17 and 6:22.5.

In four-oared shells, the Navy jayvees triumphed by better than four lengths, but the Princeton freshmen achieved an upset with a half second victory over the plebes. The margin was less than a deck length.

Princeton's unbeaten 150-lb. crew, which—contrary to the heavier oarsmen, has no trouble putting eight men on the water - topped both Navy and Rutgers. Its margin of victory was a good two lengths, and its time was less than two seconds slower than the heavies.

In a race transplanted from the Raritan River, Northeastern defeated Rutgers, with Yale third.

Princeton will row on the Charles River at Cambridge Saturday, facing heavily-favored Harvard and MIT. The been won by a Tiger crew i Compton Cup, which hasn't more than a decade, will be at stake. The lightweights figure to have a full measure of opposition from Penn at Philadelphia.

PHS VS. NEW BRUNSWICK

In Track Thursday. Loser of its first two dual meets, the Princeton High School track team will play host to New Brunswick here Thursday at 3:45. Coach Larry Ivan's team will be at Notre Dame on Monday.

In the first annual Mercer County Track and Field Relay Championships held Saturday at Ewing, PHS captured one of the 15 events.

PHS won the shot put relay with a distance of 135'-5 1-4". Lou Drury (49-1 1-4) Bill Alexander (48-8 3-4) and freshman Tom Murphy (37-9 1-2) threw for PHS. In the three and three - quarter mile distance medley, PHS finished second in 17.44 — less than three seconds behind the winning time

WHAT WE DO TO MAKE YELLOW PAGES ADVERTISING RELIABLE AND HELPFUL.

A good ad doesn't have to promise the moon and the sky to make a sale. And that's what we tell our Yellow Pages advertisers. Play it straight. Be truthful, factual and informative.

And to help them do it, we work with them to see that their advertising copy is clear, meaningful and correct. We guide our advertisers on how to write an effective ad that tells the reader what he wants to know.

To make it in the Yellow Pages, ads must meet our high standards, as well as those set by Federal and State laws. To insure they do, each ad is checked and rechecked all along the line. It must be factual, informative, forthright.

Advertisers must be able to substantiate their claims. Statements of certification, authorization and accreditation must be documented or sworn to. Words like 'guarantee' and 'warranty' cannot be used unless the terms of the agreement are clearly spelled out or qualified.

Why do we go to such great lengths to separate fact from fiction? Because we want you to use the Yellow Pages. And know that when you do, what you see is what you get.

Craig Carlton ran a 51.9 440 for the Little Tigers, "a beauty," said Ivan, after Mike Coda had run a 2:05.9 half. However, Hopewell Valley's Brian Gallagher, Mercer County mile, to give PHS the lead. ty cross country distance ning the mile against John champion, gained it back running the mile against John Woodside. Pete Nichols ran the two-mile leg

There were no team scores in this first meet, although Ewing won the "unofficial" team title by capturing six firsts. Hightstown had three and Hamilton two firsts.

Steinert Wins, 70 1-2 - 59 1-2. Thursday, in weather so cold that Ivan said he couldn't even start his stop watch, PHS was defeated by Steinert, 70 1-2 to 59 1-2, on the host team's fine all-weather track.

The meet went down to the final event, the long jump. PHS needed a first and second to win but the best it could do was a third by Mark McLean. The Blue and White was hampered by the loss of miler Bill Frazier, attending his grandfather's funeral, and Steve Roderick, sidelined with a heel bruise. Had they competed, Ivan stated, PHS would have swept the mile and 880.

For PHS, Woodside won the mile. Nichols took the two-mile in 10:15 to remain unbeaten in the event. Martin Willard captured the 880 (2:04.5) by a step and a half over Coda (2:04.6) and McLean won the pole vault.

Drury won the discus, placed second in the shot and 100-yard dash, "which is unusual for a putter," commented Ivan. Alexander won the shot over Drury to keep that friendly rivalry going.

Steve Carlton took second in both the low and high hurdles. Richard Guzy gave PHS its first win in the javelin with a toss of 158-10.

PHS IS BLANKED AGAIN

At Notre Dame. There is nothing wrong with the Princeton High School baseball team that a few hits — with men on base— won't cure.

Last week, PHS and Steinert both had four hits but the Spartans were more timely and produced five runs. The Little Tigers came up without a run and went down to their third consecutive defeat. All have been shutouts.

MIKE CARLUCCI is one of four returning lettermen on the Princeton High School baseball team. He is an infielder.

"Personally, I think our hits were better than their's but nobody was on," moaned PHS coach Don Blankenbush.

The Blue and White will try to get going Thursday at Notre Dame — possibly with a juggled lineup to try for more hitting. Blankenbush reported that only three players, John Mooney, Jeff Galle and Jeff Drummond, were meeting the ball squarely.

Trenton High School will be here Tuesday for a 3.45 game.

After the first two innings against Steinert, Mooney pitched scoreless ball for PHS, but he received little help from his teammates in the field and at the plate. He also had two of Princeton's four hits, a double and a nicely-placed bunt single in the fifth. Mike Carlucci and Galle had the other two Little Tiger hits off Steinert hurler Lou Cammiso.

Cammiso retired the first 12 PHS batters, striking out half of them. Nine PHS batters fanned as compared to

by Mel Atlas, Reg. Pharm.

Scientific medicine received a hard blow in 335 A.D., when Constantine closed all the pagan temples, which had become sanatoria for the cure of the sick, and turned them into churches. For several hundred years medicine and surgery were at a low ebb. In medicine, an attempt was made by the physicians to evaluate the balance existing between the humours of the body. Luckily for us, during the sixteenth century, there was a revolt against this ancient medicine in favor of more scientific and open discussion of the body, its ills, and its cures.

The most complete selection of pharmaceutical supplies, patent medicines and such will be found at THE FORER PHARMACY, 160 Witherspoon. We stock all sickroom needs and sell or rent convalescent aids and surgical supplies. Open daily from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sunday till 3 p.m. Phone 921-7287.

four for the victors. PHS has 30 Ks in three games.

Steinert, a pre-season favorite to capture the Mercer County League crown, got all the runs it needed in the first when it combined a single, stolen base, wild pitch, walk, infield hit and throwing error for two runs. It was Cammiso's first win, Mooney's second loss.

RECORD 25 BOATS VIE

On Lake Carnegie. Warm sunshine brought a record 25 boats out on Lake Carnegie Sunday for the third week of spring series races on the Carnegie Sailing Club.

Last year's Sunfish trophy winner, Ed Metcalf, served notice on the new Laser fleet that he intends to add another cup to his collection by taking four firsts in five races in this class. Bob Holeman finished second and Vagn Worm third in the Lasers.

Nineteen Sunfish competed with Ted LaFountain coming in first for the day, followed by Dick Hill and Jack Kunz third.

HUN NINE IS 4-0

Following Ewing Victory. The Hun School baseball team, which has only four returning lettermen, could hardly have started out in more impressive fashion for coach Bill McQuade.

The Red and Black won three last week, including a decisive 9-1 victory over Ewing Saturday to increase its record to 4-0. "With all this cold weather, I don't know yet how good they are, and I don't think the players know themselves," commented McQuade. "This could be another good season." Hun is the defending Penn-Jersey League champions.

Hun was scheduled to play Friends Central this Wednesday and will entertain Perkiomen here next Wednesday at 2:30.

Hun has been getting superb pitching from co-captain Paul Creamer, who has all four victories to his credit, and offensive scoring. It has pushed across 29 runs, including 21 in the last two.

"We've been getting the hitting and pitching," acknowledged McQuade, "but what has really surprised me has been the defense. I don't think we've committed more than one or two errors in any one game. Defense has been the key so far." Hun has limited the opposition to six runs in the first four games.

Creamer "Fantastic". Creamer, said McQuade, "has been fantastic" on the mound. He and Dave Clark have been so effective, he reported, that he hasn't had to use anybody else. "Everyone is playing great ball," he added.

Against Ewing, Creamer gave up three hits in going the distance. Hun scored four runs in the first when, with the bases loaded and two out, Bob McHugh singled home a pair and two more came across when Ewing shortstop Lance Smith misplayed Scott Johnson's sharp grounder. The final score was 9-1.

First baseman Biff Hollowell and shortstop Tony Trani had two hits each for Hun. Trani is batting over .600 and Hollowell over .500, according to McQuade, who described Trani as being the key to Hun's power with the bat.

Friday, Hun routed George School, 12-2 as Creamer pitcher four innings of perfect ball before being removed for a rest. Jon Videbeck came on and threw one hit ball the rest of the way.

Hun catcher Greg Raffalski, who was injured in the game and did not play the next day against Ewing, had a double and triple. Dave Pone and Trani collected two hits each.

Earlier in the week, Dave Clark started against Pennington School, hurling a no-hitter for five innings. However, he developed a sore arm in the sixth and McQuade replaced him with Creamer. The game went into extra innings.

In true Merriwell fashion, Creamer drove in the winning runs in the eighth to earn a 3-2 decision.

During the preceding week, a full 32 draw entry saw numerous matches played each day between contestants representing a dozen nearby towns. The semi-finalists were Trice Zenzie and Robin Ross, both of Princeton, with quarter-finalists from Robbinsville, West Windsor, Rossmore and Rocky Hill. DUMPEL SINGLES CHAMP

In Nassau Tennis Event. Fourth-seeded Fritz Dumpel won the men's singles championship at the Nassau Racquet and Tennis Club last week when he defeated second-seeded Doug Wengel. The annual indoor championships were the second held at the Club on Route 206.

In the women's final, Laura Goldfield, for the second year defeated Mary Goodenough in three sets. In the mixed doubles final, Renata and Dick Gesswein conquered last year's winners, Carolyn and Ben Camper.

Joan Oberman and Jan de Grouchy defeated Peg Warner and Carolyn Camper in straight sets to capture the women's doubles championship, while in the men's doubles, the first-seeded team of Al McGimpsey and Roger Schwartz won in straight sets over Fritz Dumpel and Ben Camper. Resident pro Bill Foreman presented trophies to all winners.

Springdale Season Opens

Two teams tied in the annual Member - Member Tournament which opened the season Saturday at Springdale Golf Club.

Posting scores of 134, based on the two best balls of foursomes using full handicaps, each of the winning entries was eight under par. One foursome (with their handicaps) consisted of Bob Shillaber (9), Paul Schafer (18), Pete Budd and Don Conner (both 19.) The other foursome included Jack Futerer (7), Joe Carchidi (131), Alex Ross and T.A. Buzard (both 25). At 135, the runners-up were Carlie Foster (11), Charles Greathouse (13), John Hoff (18) and Mel Firman (22).

The qualifying round in the President's Cup Tournament will be held Saturday. The low 32 net scores after 18 holes will qualify, with first-round match play starting Sunday.

MEDALS WON

By Princeton Swimmers. Swimming in 10-year age groups, Masters swimmers from the Princeton Aquatic Association reaped a spring harvest of medals at the Garden State Swim Pool at Berkeley Heights last weekend.

Two swimmers made auspicious debuts for the Masters: Becky Houston, swimming in the 35-44 group, was clocked in 16.5 for first place in the 25-yard freestyle; and Kay Lasley, entering the 45-54 category, captured the 100-yard backstroke in 1:43.2.

Tink Bolster, turning in some of her best times of the year, earned five first places in the 35-44 group. Improving by ten seconds in the 200 individual medley, she covered the distance in the fast time of 3:26.5. Her other gold medal wins were: 100-yard freestyle (1:25.2); 150-yard breaststroke (1:42.7); 50-yard butterfly (50.5); and 400-yard freestyle (6:38.7).

For the men, John Stone, former Princeton University record-holder, won two gold medals in his specialty, the freestyle sprints: 25 yards in 11.8, and 100 yards in 58.9. John Ferguson, also swimming in the 35-44 age group, took a third in the 25-yard freestyle and fourth in the 10-yard breaststroke in 1:42.7

TIGERS WIN IN 15TH

Top Villanova, 4 to 2. Pitching seven strong innings after a two days' rest, Randy Bevins won in relief from Vanny on the losers' diamond Tuesday when the Princeton baseball team scored twice in the top of the 15th inning. The 4-2 triumph sent the Tigers into this week's Eastern League action with a four game string on their belts.

Bevins replaced a tiring Steve Crandall in the last of the ninth and yielded the tying run. Thereafter, he was in complete control, hanging up six zeros and nine strikeouts to raise his record to 3-2 and the team's to 7-8, after six opening losses.

A single by Rick Holberg and a double by Ken Beytin put the Tigers ahead in the 15th, and they added an insurance run when Pete Korsan singled to score Beytin. The latter had three hits on the day to bring his average nearer .300.

PHS MONDAY SPORTS

Trackmen, Stickmen Lose. The Princeton High School track team lost a 79-52 decision to Hamilton Monday and the Little Tiger lacrosse team was stopped by Lawrenceville School, 12-1.

Hamilton (3-1), Mercer County defending track champions, swept both the low and high hurdles and the long jump for 27 points. Lou Drury led PHS with a first in the discus (137-9½) and a second in the shot and 100-yard dash. Teammate Bill Alexander won the shot with a toss of 49-4½.

Mike Coda won the 880 in 2:03.2, pushed all the way by Martin Willard (2:03.9). Both times were the best for each this season. Other firsts for PHS, which lost its third dual meet against no victories, were: Steve Woodside in the mile (4:42.4), Mark McLean, pole vault (10-0); Peter Nichols, two-mile (10:11.) and Richard Guzy, javelin (150-5).

"We Were Terrible". A first period goal by Mark Campbell was all PHS could muster against Lawrenceville in evening its record at 2-2.

"We were terrible," commented coach Marvin Trotman. "We took a couple of shots at goal in the first period but that was it. We just couldn't get untracked."

Defenseman John McColloch, co-captain of the team, has been lost with a neck injury, which he sustained in Clifton game.

Tennis Team Wins. The Little Tiger tennis team posted its third 5-0 sweep in five days when it blanked visiting Hopewell Valley.

Dick Broad, Nick van DeWalle and David Loy won singles matches, while Randy Thomas and Rob McDougald and the unbeaten freshman pairing of Dan Shulman and Dan Aronovic won in doubles play. The Bulldogs never won more than two sets in any match.

Hun's Bubble Burst. In a game between two unbeaten nines Monday, Peddie (5-0) handed the Hun School baseball team its first loss, 5-1. Hun is 4-1.

Peddie hurler Bob Haarlow limited the visiting Red and Black to a first-inning run and four hits. Peddie got nine of losing pitcher Dave Pone and broke a 1-1 tie in the third when it scored two runs on an error and a two-run single by Wade Wolster.

Hun's previous tight defense crumbled as coach Bill McQuade's team committed five errors.

PHS LACROSSE TALE

Win Big, Lose Big. There was no middle ground last week for the Princeton High School lacrosse team (2-1) which raked visiting Edison Friday for 16 goals and a 16-1 victory two days after it had, in turn, been mauled by Montclair, 10-0.

PHS will entertain Pingry at the PBS football field Thursday at 3:30 and then will break until a May 2 battle against Hun.

The Eagles of Edison, playing their first season in the sport and only their second varsity game, were no match for the Little Tigers, who scored seven times in the first period alone.

Mark Campbell, whom coach Marvin Trotman credited for a nice passing game as well, scored four goals. He had three in the first period. Bob Weisbecker, who had three tallies, scored twice in the first period.

Scoring a pair of goals were Ron Campbell, John Figeroa, while Jim Miller, Mike Nollner, Rob McLuskey, Jim Bolster and Rich Warfield added single tallies.

Montclair, a perennial power which PBS has never defeated, taught the Little Tigers a lesson in basic fundamentals.

Trotman, who said he expected to post his first winning season this spring, allowed that he was disapointed his team didn't do better.

But, what can you do with a team like Montclair, he said, throwing up his hands. They could stay with most college teams in the country.'

PHS NETMEN REBOUND

With Pair of 5-0 Wins. Upset last week by Metuchen, the Princeton High School tennis team rebounded with a pair of 5-0 victories over Lawrence and Trenton.

The team will be at Ewing Thursday and play host to Christian Brothers Academy—one of the strongest opponents on its schedule—here Tuesday at 3:30. Wednesday it will be at Lawrence High School for a rematch with the Cardinals.

The number one singles player, Dick Broad, Nick van DeWalle, number two singles, and David Loy, number three, won in straight sets in both matches, as did the number one doubles of Randy Thomas and Rob McDougald.

Against Lawrence, the number two doubles combo, Dan Shulman and Jean van DeWalle, both freshmen, triumphed, 6-2, 7-5. Opposite Trenton, the number two pairing of Larry Martz and Phil Ebersole won, 6-1, 6-1.

PBS STILL LOOKING

For First Baseball Win. Five games into its schedule, the Princeton Day baseball team is having problems with both the weather and the opposition. So far this spring, the Panthers are 0-2-1-2.

That last "2" tacked on at the end represents two games postponed because of rain. Wardlaw, the first game of the season, and last week, Rutgers Prep. The Wardlaw contest is set for this Monday at PDS, the Rutgers Prep game was moved off to May 17. Barring more rain, the Panthers were also set to play Germantown Friends this Wednesday afternoon at home.

The high point of the PDS season so far was a 1-1 tie against Pennington last Friday. Glen Russo hurled a fine game, which had to be cut short because of a 5:45 Pennington School curfew dictated by the school's dinner hour.

That was sandwiched in between losses to Hun School, 5-1, and, last Saturday, 11-6 to Lawrenceville. The Larries jumped out to a seven-run lead in the first three innings and coasted the rest of the way.

Starter and loser Mark Ellsworth lasted only a third of an inning, giving up three runs on three hits, walking one and striking out none. The Pathers' offense was too late with too little, but still managed to be more productive than any game to date. Russo had two of the team's six hits, one a two-bagger.

PDS STICKMEN SPLIT

Lawrenceville Next. Princeton Day School's young lacrosse team had no trouble outmanoeuvering a big, inexperienced Edison High School squad in its season's opener last week, but could not quite catch George School, which proved both big and good.

Edison which fielded several big players showed it was ready to play a physical game, "but we gave them a lesson in finesse," commented PDS coach Chuch Simpson. The lesson ended with the score 15-1.

Two days later, George also had the small PDS team outweighed, but had the ability to go with the size, and the Panthers found themselves down 6-1 in the third period.

A midfield switch by Simpson proved to be the right combination, and the Blue and White slowly began to come back. In the final quarter PDS scored three times in the last couple of minutes bringing the score to 6-5, with 40 seconds left. However, two last shots in the remaining time failed.

Cam Fernate leads in scoring after two games with four goals and four assists, and John Bragg is second with five goals and two assists. Sophomore Ditch Gordon has two goals.

An important game with Hun was scheduled to be played this Wednesday afternoon at Hun. Following that the Panthers will be idle until Monday when they play Lawrenceville "B".

NET INCOME INCREASES

At New Jersey National. New Jersey National Corporation reports total assets of $692,683,819 as of March 31, an increase of $35,637,923 over the March 31, 1972 total.

For the first quarter of 1973, income before security transactions was $1,627,944 compared with $1,343,234 the previous year. Net income per share on a basis comparable with the first quarter of 1972 was $ .91 versus $ .76, an increase of 20 percent.

Since there were fewer shares outstanding in the first quarter of 1973, earnings per-share on average shares outstanding were $.99 for the quarter.

Richard G. Macgill, of Princeton, chairman of the board of New Jersey National, stated that "the rising earnings trend for the corporation which was evident in 1972 continues in 1973. We expect that the combination of favorable economic conditions, our improved operating efficiency and implementatoin of our plans for expansion will produce continued growth during the year."

TURN AROUND ACHIEVED

At General Devices. General Devices Inc., Ridge Road, Monmouth Junction, earned a profit from operations of $72,449 on sales of $6,359,020 for 1972. This was a marked turnaround from last year when GDI had a loss from operations of $143,575 on sales of $5,535,494.

Operations were profitable for the first time since 1967 and John L. Smith Jr., President, attributed the improvement to increased sales and a sharp curtailment in expenses. He noted that efforts are continuing to streamline the operations for maximum profitability and growth.

Contributing greatly to this turnabout was the $46,280 profit earned by GDI's Instrumentation Division, an increase of five per cent over 1971's profits. This Division, founded in 1953, manufactures telemetry equipment used in various industries in the U.S. and abroad to secure data from inaccessible areas.

General Devices has three other Divisions, all located in Pennsylvania: Marietta Metal Products, a manufacturer of oil and gas fired heating systems; Pierce Template, a sheet metal fabricator; and Services Division, a national multi-facility supplying engineering, drafting and research services to industry.

SUBSIDIARY FORMED

By ADR, Overseas. Applied Data Research, computer software and service company based on State Road 206, has established ADR International Corporation as a wholly-owned subsidiary to direct the firm's growing world trade activities.

John R. Bennett, ADR president, announced that Peter E. Borkovitz, an ADR vice-president, has been elected president of ADR International. He will report to Martin Goetz, director of ADR'S Software Products Division. Mr. Borkovitz will be responsible for increasing sales representation abroad, providing comprehensive training in the application of existing and planned products, and working closely with customers in foreign markets.

Applied Data Research has been marketing software products domestically since 1967 and internationally since 1968. During the past five years, approximately 25 percent of the 3,000 software products installed by Applied Data Research have been overseas.

ADR's software products are currently being marketed by representatives in more than 20 nations. The most recently signed foreign representative was ITT Data Services in Brazil.

Churches Plan Holy Week Services

The final days of Holy Week celebrate the darkest and the brightest moments in the Christian calendar. Beginning this Thursday, Maundy Thursday, Christians will mark Christ's lonely meditation in Gethsemane, his betrayal and arrest, the seven last words of Christ on the Cross, and then the Resurrection.

Princeton University Chapel will hold a Maundy Thursday Service at 8 p.m., a candlelight service of lessons and readings Good Friday at 8 p.m., and an Easter Sunday service of Confirmation and Communion at 8 a.m., and a regular service at 11 a.m. Dean Ernest Gordon's sermon will be "The Reality of the Resurrection."

Many churches Thursday will hold services of Tenebrae, or shadows.

Good Friday, called the saddest day of the Christian year, will be observed by an ecumenical service, from noon to 3 in Trinity Episcopal Church, and by services in the other churches. The Trinity service will include the liturgical devotion known as the Stations of the Cross, or the Way of the Cross featuring singing for congregation and choir, and a dramatic reading of the Passion Gospel according to Saint Matthew, involving worshippers and clergy.

Easter Sunday, a high festival day with its message of hope and resurrection, will be celebrated by several churches with sunrise services. Easter is the final day of Lent, and meditations focus on the time Christ's body lay in the garden of Joseph of Arimathea.

First Presbyterian Church will hold its last Noon Lenten Service Maundy Thursday at 12:10. At 8 p.m. a communion service will be held, followed by a reception for new members. Easter Sunday will be marked by two identical services, at 9:30 and 11 a.m.

All Saints' Church, Episcopal, has scheduled Holy Communion services Thursday at 8 p.m. A Good Friday liturgy will be presented at 9 a.m., and at 8 p.m. Saturday an Easter Vigil will begin. Easter Day the church will present a Family Eucharist at 9 a.m., and a Festival Eucharist and sermon at 11 a.m.

First United Presbyterian Church, Pennington, celebrates Holy Week with Holy Communion at 8 p.m. Thursday, followed by a reception for new members, and Easter Sunday services at 9.30 and 11:10.

Dutch Neck Presbyterian Church, Princeton Junction, will hold a Communion service 8 p.m. Maundy Thursday. At 6 a.m. Sunday, the congregation will mark the coming of Easter with a sunrise service on the grounds of the Christian Education Building. A family worship will be held at 9:30 a.m., and morning worship at 11 a.m.

Trinity Episcopal Church marks Maundy Thursday with Holy Communions at 7:15 a.m., 9:30 a.m., and 8 p.m. At the conclusion of this service a Maundy Thursday Watch begins and continues until 9 a.m. Good Friday. At that time the church will conduct a Good Friday Liturgy. That same day the church will host the ecumenical, community Good Friday Service, from noon to 3 p.m.

On Saturday at 5 p.m., there will be Holy Baptism and the lighting of the Paschal Candle.

Trinity will celebrate the festival of Easter Day with three services of the Holy Eucharist, at 7 a.m., 9:15 a.m., and 11 a.m. Each service will use a different liturgy, reflecting the period of transition, experimentation, and trial use of services in which the national Episcopal Church is currently involved. The choir of men and boys will be accompanied by the Princeton University Student Brass Ensemble during the 11 a.m. Eucharist.

Christ Congregation will observe the Last Supper with an extinguishing of candles Thursday at 8 p.m. Easter service will be at 10 a.m.

News Of The CHURCHES

TO SING ORIGINAL HYMN Will mark 250th Anniversary. Kingston Presbyterian Church will hear for the first time an original hymn composed in observance of its 250th anniversary year on Easter Sunday at 11 a.m.

The hymn, entitled "Glory Be to Thee, O Lord," will be presented and sung by its composer, Steven Farris, a member of the church and a sophomore at Westminster Choir College. The Rev. James L. Mechem, pastor, will accept the hymn on behalf of the congregation.

Mr. Farris, who has also composed Christmas carols and a Mass movement, majors in voice and is studying for a degree in music education at Westminster. He is a member of the Westminster Choir, a select group of 40 students, which just completed a three-week tour of the Midwest and South, and which this summer will be in residence at a summer music festival in Spoleto, Italy.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Farris of Kendall Park, Mr. Farris graduated from South Brunswick High School, where he was a member of the marching, concert and stage bands, and president of the choir. He also participated in the Middlesex County, Central Jersey, and New Jersey All-State choruses.

As a member of Westminster's symphonic choir, Mr. Farris has sung with the New York and Boston Philharmonic orchestras, and the National Symphony of Washington, D.C., under the direction of conductors such as Leonard Bernstein, Pierre Boulez, William Steinberg, and Antol Dorati.

PASSOVER MEALS HELD

At Princeton University. Dining facilities at Stevenson Hall and the Princeton Inn on the university campus were specially equipped to serve some 170 Jewish students and faculty who celebrated Passover at seders Monday and Tuesday nights. This year was the second year that special passover meals, prepared under rabbinical supervision were offered to Jewish students at Princeton.

On Palm Sunday, 20 students participated in an interfaith, model seder sponsored by the Hillel Foundation, Trinity Episcopal Church, and the university's Episcopal chaplain.

The rise of traditional Jewish services at the university was attributed to increased numbers of Jewish students at Princeton, and to an increased interest among Jewish students in their religious and cultural heritage.

CHURCH WOMEN TO MEET

For May Fellowship Day. May Fellowship Day will be observed by Princeton Church Women United on Friday, May 4, with a luncheon at All Saints' Church at noon. This year's theme, "As Hand Touches Hand," will celebrate the spirit of Christian women as they reach out in volunteer services in their communities. According to Nadja Winn, chairman, since the first May Fellowship Day observances in 1933, it has been traditional on this day to emphasize the creative and healing relations possible among people in every community. This year, Protestant, Roman Catholic, and Orthodox women of over 2,000 units of Church Women United will meet to dedicate themselves to work in partnership with their neighbors.

Mrs. Dorothy Schoch, a recent recipient of the Gerard B. Lambert Award for Community Services, will speak at the luncheon. Mrs. Schoch was one of the initiators and first president of the Youth Employment Service.

She has served as president of the Council of Community Services, and was a member of the Princeton Township Board of Education. She served on the Citizens Committee which established the Joint Recreation Commission, and was appointed a member. She also served on the Citizens Committee which established the need for a Joint Civil Rights Commission. She is now a member of the boards of the Princeton Medical Center, the Nursery School and the Trinity Counseling Service.

The offering received on May Fellowship Day provides scholarships for children in the Princeton area to attend summer camp programs.

The luncheon is $2.50. Child care will be provided at 50 cents per child.

First United Presbyterian Church of Pennington will conduct a clothing drive for East Trenton, April 26 through May 5. Clothing should be brought to Heritage Hall.

EARNINGS UP 50 PER CENT

At Union Camp. Which maintains a research and development laboratory on the Princeton Pike, Union Camp Corporation, reported this week that sales and earnings continued at record levels in the first quarter ended March 31 and were the highest for any quarter in the company's history.

STERLING DRUG EXPANDS

Takes Over ETS Building. Sterling Drug Company has leased 34,000 square feet of additional space in Lawrence Township for warehousing purposes. The building is the former Educational Testing Service facility located in Princeton Pike Industrial Park, Lawrence Township.

Sterling Drug's present manufacturing plant is located on East State Street Extension in Hamilton Township, where more than 400 people are employed in the manufacturing of aspirin and other pharmaceuticals. Freeholder Paul J. Sollami, director of the Mercer County Economic Development Commission, said Sterling Drug is another Mercer County firm which has continued to expand its operations here.

Freeholder Sollami said there is a great diversity of industry in Mercer County today. "The County," he said, "has proved a hospitable and advantageous location for a great variety of both large and small firms; and the present pace and nature of development indicates that it will continue to do so for some time to come."

Negotiations were handled by the Samuel J. Plumeri Realty Company of Trenton, New Jersey.

But at COUNTRY ANTIQUES

A table notch (it's so beautiful as a bench. We just bought it and we found it was one we had refinished ourselves about 10 years ago. Very early type with a drawer). Came from old Mt. Holly home.

A large stoneware pitcher with much blue decoration.

And Timely! of all an Antiphonal page, a chant for Saturday and Sunday of Easter week identified by a local music expert. Dated late 14th century. What more could we ask?

From the front, this house looks like just another elegant, charming Colonial on a delightful wooded lot. What the picture doesn't show is the feature that makes this property unique—a 40x60 poolhouse (presently incomplete) for year-round swimming and relaxing. The house itself has 5 bedrooms and 3½ baths and a number of extras from 2 fireplaces to 3-zone heating. Quiet Princeton Township location and a lot of almost 2 acres. $187,000

However, floors of all types can be beautiful depending on your taste and budget. Oak flooring is always a desirable feature, and today's new inlays are also very durable and beautiful. In the market for a house? Flooring is an important feature to consider!
